

McGovern Turns Vacation Into Political Campaign

CUSTER, S.D. (AP) — Democratic presidential nominee George McGovern, 50 years old today, can't get away from politics on his South Dakota vacation. He isn't really trying to, either.

In less than two days of what had been billed as a complete rest, the South Dakota senator has made two campaign-style appearances among friendly Black Hills constituents and a visit to famed Mt. Rushmore national monument nearby, where he mingled with tourists from throughout the nation.

McGovern, wearing an open-necked shirt, an ascot and a suede outdoors jacket, had hardly stepped out of his car at Mt. Rushmore when he was confronted by newsmen with microphones, cameras and a round of questions.

He will try to confine his birthday, which Gov. Richard Kneip has proclaimed "George McGovern Day" in South Dakota, to relaxation. The only activities listed on his schedule are a horseback ride in the morning and a birthday party tonight featuring a barbecued buffalo.

Mrs. McGovern will not be on hand. Press secretary Richard Dougherty said she is undergoing some physical tests and won't arrive until Friday.

Dougherty also told reporters the two top managers for McGovern's successful drive for the nomination, Gary Hart and Frank Mankiewicz, are due at his Sylvan Lake Lodge retreat Friday. He added that a trip by McGovern on Sunday to Sioux Falls is being converted into a full day of campaigning.

After appearing on the CBS radio-TV interview program "Face the Nation," to be conducted live at station KELO, McGovern will pay visits to Mitchell, his boyhood home, and the state capitol at Pierre.

After another week of political planning here, McGovern is to return to Washington in time to start campaigning in early August. The first of his nationwide series of appearances will be in smaller towns and cities usually bypassed by presidential candidates in search of major media markets.

Budget - Busting Public Works Bill Set For Passage

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $5 billion budget-busting, job-making public works bill was expected to be approved by the House today despite administration opposition.

Sponsors of the measure, led by Rep. Wright Patman, D-Tex., claimed enough votes to send the bill to the Senate and to override a veto if it should be forthcoming.

"This goes beyond politics," said Patman, chairman of the House Banking and Currency Committee which approved the bill by vote of 19 to 4.

The bill would authorize the Secretary of Housing and Urban Development to make up to $5 billion in grants to states and local governments for basic public works and facilities such as sewage treatment plants. The grants could be for the entire amount of the projects in some cases.

Actual funds would have to be provided in a separate appropriation measure.

The grants would be available to all communities, with priorities for economically depressed areas, rural areas losing substantial population, and areas with persistent or increasing joblessness.

House Speaker Carl Albert, D-Okla., cited statistics indicating that for every $1 million of public funds invested in such local projects, 100 jobs would be created. At that rate, the $5 billion program would generate 500,000 construction jobs and, Albert estimated, up to 500,000 other positions created by the stimulus to local economies.

The Banking Committee estimated that the entire $5 billion to finance sewer, water and other facilities will be committed for expenditure by the end of 1972, and all of the money will have been spent by June 30, 1974.

Citing current unemployment statistics, Albert criticized the Nixon administration for having "no foreseeable job-producing initiative and showing no evidence of concern for the problem."

4th Chess Meet Ends In Draw

REYKJAVIK, Iceland (AP) — Boris Spassky was stonewalled and Bobby Fischer smiled and waved after their fourth game in the world chess championship ended in a draw Tuesday night.

The standoff came after five hours of what many in the crowd of about 1,200 felt was the most exciting match thus far.

At the 45th move Fischer extended his hand to Spassky and the Russian accepted.

With each player picking up half a point on the draw, the score is 2½-1½ in the Russian's favor. The fifth match in the 24-game series is Thursday at 1 p.m. EDT.

Presidential Politics Blamed In Delay

Wage Floor Bill Bogs Down

WASHINGTON (AP) — The minimum wage bill has bogged down in the Senate amid charges by some sponsors that presidential politics are to blame for the delay.

The Democratic-sponsored bill would boost the wage floor from $1.60 to $2.20 an hour and make other changes in the law. It is of particular importance to the AFL-CIO.

The bill was brought up in the Senate Monday, but Republicans quickly countered with a substitute pushed by President Nixon that would put the minimum at $2 and eliminate many provisions of the Democratic proposal.

The substitute is strongly opposed by the AFL-CIO. Senate Democrats said they hope to defeat it.

They said they were particularly anxious to demonstrate their commitment to labor on the issue because of the unhappiness of some AFL-CIO leaders over the Democratic national ticket.

After a series of cloakroom huddles, agreement was reached among Senate leaders to vote Thursday on the key issue of the GOP substitute.

The agreement also provides that a vote on final passage of the measure will take place before Thursday night.

Some Democrats charged privately that the Republicans did not want to vote until after the AFL-CIO executive council meeting today to discuss the question of a presidential endorsement.

The Democrats said Republicans felt that pushing the $2 substitute in advance of the council session might hurt them with labor.

The role of Sen. George McGovern, the Democratic standard bearer, also came in for comment from some Democrats.

McGovern's office said he had no plans to interrupt his rest-and-planning vacation in South Dakota to return here to vote on the minimum wage legislation.

But a number of Democrats, asking that their names not be used, said they believed McGovern should return at least to vote against the Republican substitute.

They said the minimum wage bill tops the list of AFL-CIO concerns in the 1972 session, and that the South Dakotan could improve his position with labor by flying to Washington to vote.

Eight Ordinances Introduced During Tuesday Council Session

It was a busy night for Circleville Council Tuesday with the city's legislative body hearing eight ordinances. A ninth, the original salary schedule for police and fire department, was tabled.

Two ordinances were prepared and introduced to replace the one that was tabled. Both were held for second readings. Safety director Ed Ebert explained to council that city attorney William Stevens recommended the salary schedules be introduced separately.

He also noted that a provision in the original ordinance giving the safety director authority to refuse to grant disciplinary reasons a pay increase when due had been removed from the new ordinances.

Otherwise the salary schedules remained basically the same. Ebert emphasized that no member of either department would take a cut in pay if the new ordinances are enacted.

THE schedule has been developed by Ebert to provide more incentive to members to stay with the department through longevity pay increases extending up to 20 years.

The fire department personnel consists of the Chief, three lieutenants and nine firemen.

The new schedule has a starting salary for firemen of $6,448. Subsequent pay increases are: one year, $6,552; two years, $6,656; three years, $6,760; six years, $6,968; nine years, $7,176; 12 years, $7,384; 15 years, $7,592; 20 years, $7,800.

The pay schedule for lieutenants is: Start, $7,072; three years, $7,384; six years, $7,696; nine years, $8,008; 12 years, $8,320; 15 years, $8,632; 20 years, $8,944.

The ordinance on the police department salary schedule authorizes personnel consisting of the chief, four sergeants and 13 patrolmen. In addition it provides for two radio operators, a clerk-typist and a meter attendant.

The salary schedule for the patrolmen, sergeants and chief is the same as for firemen, lieutenants and chief. The schedule for the radio operators is: start, $4,888; one year, $4,992; two years, $5,096; three years, $5,200; six years, $5,408; nine years, $5,616; 12 years, $5,824; 15 years, $6,032; 20 years, $6,340.

THE schedule for the clerk-typist of the department is: Start, $4,472; one year, $4,576; two years, $4,680; three years, $4,784; six years, $4,992; nine years, $5,200; 12 years, $5,408; 15 years, $5,616; 20 years, $5,824. The schedule for the meter attendant is: Start, (Continued on Page 2)

South Viets Near Heart Of Quang Tri City Defense

SAIGON (AP) — South Vietnamese forces battled their way toward the walled Citadel in the heart of Quang Tri City today and reported 163 North Vietnamese killed in house-to-house fighting Tuesday.

One government paratrooper unit was reported 100 yards from the southeastern corner of the 19th century fortress, and another was closing in from the northeast side.

Initial reports said the North Vietnamese killed five government soldiers and wounded 20 in the fighting Tuesday.

The U.S. Command said three American Phantom jets bombed a South Vietnamese position six miles southeast of Quang Tri City by mistake, killing one government soldier and wounding 16. It was the third such U.S. bombing mistake reported in two days and the fourth in two weeks near Quang Tri. A total of 11 South Vietnamese killed and 51 wounded have been reported. Field officers blame the close-quarter fighting, the often confused maneuvering of South Vietnamese units and the presence of hundreds of U.S. planes in the air while almost all ground units are calling for support.

The U.S. Command also reported one of its Cobra helicopter gunships was shot down Tuesday 14 miles southeast of Quang Tri but said the crewmen were rescued.

The Viet Cong radio claimed today that 21 U.S. warplanes have been shot down in the Quang Tri area since July 1 and "many pilots" have been captured. The U.S. Command has reported that the loss of two planes and six helicopters in the province in that period, with four of the crewmen missing.

U.S. Air Force F4 Phantom pilots escorting bombers raiding North Vietnam reported downing another MIG21 in a dogfight Tuesday west of Hanoi.

Hanoi claimed three American planes were shot down during Tuesday's raids, but the only losses announced by the U.S. Command were a Navy A7 13 miles northeast of Vinh on Monday night and a Navy A4 40 miles southwest of Hanoi on July 11. Two of the crewmen were reported missing.

U.S. spokesmen said American planes flew more than 320 strikes against North Vietnam on Tuesday, and the pilots wrecked warehouses, cut runways and taxiways at MIG bases, dropped bridges, and left fuel depots exploding and in flames.

The biggest strike was against the Nguyen Khe military base, nine miles north of Hanoi.

Maryland Has 3rd Jail Outbreak

UPPER MARLBORO, Md. (AP) — Police and state troopers were put on standby alert after an inmate rebellion erupted again early today at Prince Georges County Jail following a disturbance Tuesday night in which three guards were taken hostage and then released.

The outbreaks were the third since Saturday at a Maryland penal institution.

Inmates became involved in the disturbance about 2:30 a.m. but no outside forces were called in, county police said. The inmates returned to their cells about an hour later.

Officials said there was some damage, but no injuries were reported.

Officials earlier blamed hot, muggy weather and previous prison disturbances in the state for the Tuesday night uprising, which ended when inmates released their hostages unharmed some 3½ hours after taking over the second floor of the 100-prisoner facility.

Arthur H. Bremer, 21, who is awaiting a July 31 trial on charges stemming from the assassination attempt on Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace, was confined in a first-floor annex cell and was not involved in any of the trouble, officials said.

State Patrol Makes Game Of Catching Auto Thieves

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Auto thieves beware. Hundreds of Ohio Highway Patrol officers anxious to become "aces" are looking for you.

Competition is hot and heavy among patrolmen to notch the most auto theft "kills" of the year.

It's all part of an incentive program devised by Patrol Supt. Robert Chiaramonte to zero in on auto thefts.

Under the program, each time a patrolman arrests an auto thief and recovers a stolen car he receives a red lightning bolt decal for his cruiser.

After five "kills," a patrolman will be designated an "ace" and get a certificate of achievement.

The patrolman with the most arrests at the end of the year will be awarded a Maltese Cross with an Ohio Highway Patrol insignia in its center. The medal is modeled after the German "Blue Max" war decoration and will be worn on the patrol uniform.

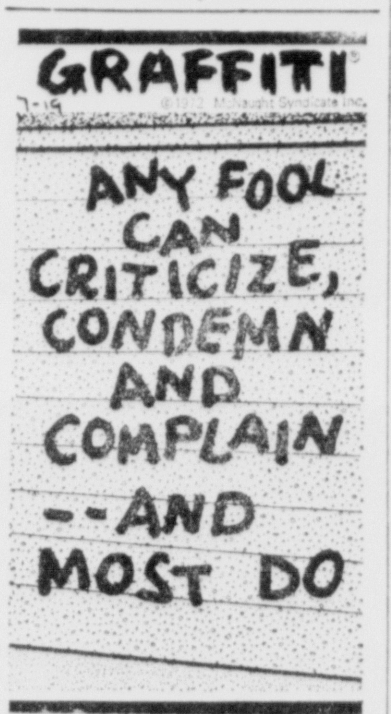

Lt. Col. Clifford Reich, assistant superintendent, said the patrolmen are enjoying the program.

Already 35 patrolmen have two or more lightning bolt decals affixed, he said. "They are liable to get post commanders out of bed after they make an arrest so they can put a slash on their car."

As a result, he said, "a cruiser sitting by the road will not only be watching speeders but also for stolen cars."

Officials expect 53,000 cars valued at $90 million to be stolen in Ohio this year.

Meany Mum On Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP) — Although AFL-CIO President George Meany wasn't accepting calls from the Democratic vice presidential nominee, some labor leaders held out hope today that the full effect of Meany's unhappiness with the party's presidential ticket could be averted.

The 35-man AFL-CIO executive council met to decide whether to endorse Democratic candidate for president George McGovern and his running mate, Sen. Thomas Eagleton of Missouri.

One measure suggested by some labor leaders provided that the federation make no endorsement of a presidential candidate for the first time in its 17-year history, instead leaving it up to each of the 117 member unions to decide whether to endorse a ticket.

The AFL-CIO always has backed Democratic presidential candidates in the past but Meany is very unhappy with the choice of McGovern.

Eagleton said Tuesday he had been unable to reach Meany on the telephone though he tried for two days.

Leonard Woodcock, president of the United Auto Workers Union, met with Eagleton Tuesday and said he would work for the Democratic ticket and expected the union to endorse it. Woodcock at one time was under consideration for the spot Eagleton has on the ticket.

Eagleton said he will make no further contacts with other union officials because he doesn't want to leave the impression he is "intermeddling in union affairs."

The 2 million-member Teamsters Union, which has not been a part of the AFL-CIO since 1957, has endorsed President Nixon.

Armstrong Museum To Open In Wapakoneta Thursday

By MARY SCHEIER Associated Press Writer WAPAKONETA, Ohio (AP) — Rock that Neil A. Armstrong brought back from man's first trip to the moon will pass through his hands again Thursday—third anniversary of his historic "giant step for mankind."

The Apollo 11 commander, a native of Wapakoneta, will join Tricia Nixon Cox here Thursday to help open the Armstrong

Air and Space Museum to the public. Mrs. Cox, representing her father, President Richard M. Nixon, and the National Aeronautics and Space Agency, is to hand Armstrong the rock before it is put on display.

The museum is dedicated to Ohioans who helped in the conquest of air and space.

Construction workers are pushing to have 90 per cent of the expected exhibits in place for the public opening.

Moon-rock is a favorite topic of Armstrong's father Steve, a retired assistant director of the Ohio Department of Mental Hygiene and Correction.

"They've found that the moonrock dust can make earth plants grow at three times the normal rate," explained the elder Armstrong, who grows alfalfa, soybeans, corn and wheat on a 60-acre farm near his home. "Once they've analyzed that dust, think what they could do with it."

The Armstrongs and Neil, the oldest of their three children, are sorting out various mementoes, relics, and gifts to decide what to give to the $1 million museum.

The 6,000-square foot concrete building, housed beneath a huge earthen mound, lolls on a rolling green incline like a sprawling grasshopper and is topped by a central sphere 60-feet in diameter.

Commissioned in 1969 by then-Gov. James A. Rhodes, it was financed half-and-half by the state and public subscription.

Entering the two-tiered, ramp-lined museum, the visitor sees a model of the first plane Neil Armstrong ever flew, an Aeronca "Champion." Overhead screens show flashing slides of early flying machines, dirigibles, blimps, planes, and space craft.

A section of a Jupiter rocket will be suspended from the ceiling, and a Model G plane created by the famous Wright Brothers of Dayton, Ohio, will be suspended from the ceiling.

A ramp leads to the second level where the original Gemini VIII piloted by Armstrong and David R. Scott in 1966 is displayed. Armstrong commanded (Continued on Page 20)

An ordinance authorizing the service director to advertise for bids for curbs and gutters on Watt St. from the Lancaster Pike to Stella Avenue.

Five ordinances authorizing transfer of funds were approved by Council. From the capital improvement fund, Council transferred the amount of $16,727.20 to the fire equipment fund. The money in addition to the $23,542.20 which is currently in the fund, will be used to pay for the new fire truck.

An amount of $275 was transferred from the general fund to the attorney fees fund to pay attorneys for defending the city in the case of Tatman vs. Circleville. In the case recently concluded, the decision was in favor of Circleville. The plaintiff had contended the city was negligent in not repairing a traffic light at Court and Mill Streets, claiming that because of the inoperative control device he had an automobile accident.

Council transferred $48 from the general fund to the fire department building demolition account. In addition $760 was transferred from the general fund to supplies and incidentals, maintenance and equipment accounts in the police department.

A total of $1,688.50 was transferred from the general fund to the municipal court jury trials, witness fees and maintenance and repair accounts. It was explained the general fund will eventually be reimbursed through fines and costs for the money expended in municipal court trials. Defendants must pay court costs if found guilty. The city stands the costs in cases where the defendant is found innocent.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Public Utilities Director Charles Taylor announced at council the city's hearing before the state water pollution control board has been delayed. The hearing to lift the state's sewer permit freeze on the city was originally scheduled today. The city has been issuing sewer permits for new construction with the understanding that if the city's appeal of the freeze is denied, the sewer taps cannot be used.

Mayor Frank Barnhill reported the meeting with residents of the Isaac and Moats Subdivision between Ohio and Mount Streets was quite satisfactory. About 30 residents of the area attended. Water lines will definitely be extended to the Kingston Pike and Eva Drive and there is a strong possibility service will be provided residents of Brown Street. However, there are not enough residents wanting the service on Ray, Fay and John Streets to warrant installation.

of lines according to earlier surveys.

The cost of the project will be about $500 to each individual lot. Of this $175 is the tapping fee and must be paid to the city in cash. The remaining $300 plus can be paid in cash or certified to the county auditor for collection. Public Utilities Director Taylor recommends property owners borrow money from a bank or savings and loan association as less expensive rather than having the cost certified to the county auditor for collection.

It was also noted that many residents of the area want sewer service. However, Taylor said that because of the cost of the main trunkline to the nearest existing trunk, it would be necessary for all residents to have the service to keep the cost down.

Bids for extension of water lines to the area will be opened Aug. 2. Taylor expects the job to be completed with 60 to 90 days.

Public Service Director Atwood Jones reported that the TOPICS report for Circleville was completed.

Two communications concerning mowing weeds on unoccupied lots by the city were read. The communications asked council to take the necessary steps to certify the costs to the auditor for collection from the landowner. One of the properties is at 155 W. Franklin St. and is owned by Eugene McDill, Salisbury, N. C. Cost was $16. The other property is owned by J. E. Metcalf, Columbus, and is in Garden City. Cost of cutting the weeds was placed at $70.

Mayor Barnhill announced the city's hearing before the Pickaway County Budget Commission is scheduled 9:45 a.m. in the office of Marvin Rhodes, county auditor.

Councilman Ben Gordon, not present at Tuesday's meeting, was excused by his fellow solons. Present were councilmen-at-large David Crawford and Keith Wagner; Fourth Ward Councilman Gladden Troutman, Third Ward Councilman Harold Hoffman; Second Ward Councilman Robert Kenworthy, First Ward Councilman David Goldschmidt; Clerk Robert Shadley, President Joe Bell, City Attorney William Stevens, Police Chief Robert Temple, Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe, Safety Director Ebert, Service Director Jones, Public Utilities Director Taylor.

The gallery contained representatives of the police and fire departments, on hand to hear reading of the proposed salary schedule ordinances.

It was hot and humid in council chambers and although it was a busy session, it was concluded before 9 p.m. Councilman Wagner suggested one of the two salary schedules be read by title only since both were basically the same.

Fields Sentenced To Reformatory

Portsmouth State Hospital advised law officers here that it could not accept a person on probation, even under voluntary commitment, so Norman Vincent Fields was sent today to the Ohio State Reformatory to serve his prison term.

Judge William Ammer granted leniency last week for the Kingston man, who has repeatedly violated his probation, originally levied for indecent exposure. Ammer had noted that if the state hospital would accept Fields, he would not impose the prison sentence of 1 to 10 years.

Owens-Illinois Finds Way To End Paper-Making Smell

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Owens-Illinois, Inc. says it has found a way to eliminate unpleasant smells from one of the four major papermaking processes used by the nation's multi-billion dollar paper industry.

James A. Cobb, vice president of the company's Forest Products Division, called the new discovery "a major breakthrough for paper mills using hardwoods in the neutral sulfite semi-chemical papermaking process" to manufacture corrugating medium for shipping containers.

Cobb described the heart of the new process as a different chemical mixture for the cooking of hardwood chips that "eliminates sulfur without sacrificing the quality" of the corrugating medium.

Tests were conducted using the new process at company plants at Big Island, Va. and Tomahawk, Wis.

Health Board Issues Sewage Warnings

Pickaway County Board of Health discussed two health hazards that deal with pooled sewage in regular meeting Tuesday night.

The board declared the conditions on the east end of Perrill Road a nuisance and health hazard under section 3707.01 of the Ohio Revised Code.

Inspection of the land found sewage in an agricultural tile that was no longer functioning.

The board recommended that homeowners on the Perrill Road property remove the tile to alleviate the problem.

Another health problem was discovered at Evans Trailer Court, Orient, where sewage was pooling in a field. The board said there was insufficient room for a leach field on the property and will give owners 30 days to submit plans for corrections.

The board invited Ned Harden, chairman of the Regional Planning Commission, to the meeting to establish working relations between the two groups.

The board also warned prospective homeowners to obtain a sewage permit before buying a lot or building a house.

The results, said Cobb, were that the unpleasant smells associated with the operations "were virtually eliminated."

Some other ecological benefits:

—The new system operates without any increase in chemical additives, a fact that may reduce the pollutant levels of effluents.

—Less wood is used in the process since the new chemical mix results in a greater yield in cellulose fiber pulp.

Cobb said the company was considering the licensing of the new process. He estimates it may have application in some two dozen semi-chemical corrugating medium plants in the United States and Canada.

A patent application on the process is pending.

The new Owens-Illinois technique is not applicable to any of the other three papermaking processes — the kraft process used for construction of linerboard, exterior materials for the corrugating medium; acid sulfite; and groundwood.

Cobb said research was continuing into possible adaptation of the new process to the softwoods operations.

Prison Sentence, Probation Are Issued By Court

A possible 20 year term in the Ohio State Reformatory at Mansfield was levied against young Lawrence Bailey, who was charged with theft of the Red Cross stationwagon.

Bailey, whose address is 460 E. Ohio St., entered a guilty plea to the auto larceny charge through his attorney and was sentenced to a 1-20 year prison term at Mansfield. A second charge, that of breaking into the Red Cross office, was nolle.

Then the county court ordered the release from state penal institutions three men. Frank Shepherd, 175 Hayward Ave., was granted probation for a three year period. He had been sentenced for violation of probation on a charge of issuing bad checks.

Robert Lee Wilson and William Crosby, both of South Bloomfield, were granted a sentence suspension and released as a probationer with the court for three years. The pair were found guilty of the burglary of Shifty's Tavern in that village and sentenced to 1-15 years for breaking and entry and 1-7 for grand larceny. They were returned here from the prison at Lebanon on a motion for shock probation.

U.S. Doubts That Russians Leaving Egypt

Vague Statement By Sadat Leaves Large Loophole

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are keeping close watch on Soviet deployment in Egypt amid some skepticism here over how many Russians actually will pull out.

President Anwar Sadat's surprise announcement of an end to "the mission of Soviet military advisers and experts" underlined the most serious Moscow-Cairo dispute since Russian military personnel were invited into Egypt two years ago.

Sadat also said that "all the military equipment and installations set up within Egyptian territory . . . are to be the exclusive property of the Arab Republic of Egypt and under the administration of our armed forces."

But the Cairo announcement gave no figures on how many of an estimated 15,000 Russians in Egypt were supposed to leave.

While Sadat was quoted as saying the move was "actually implemented in full" Monday, there was no independent word here yet of any large scale Russian withdrawal.

The authoritative Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said today that the pull out will not apply to Soviet military men who are training Egyptian forces.

Of the 15,000, approximately half are rated here as "advisers and experts" and the rest are believed to be in Soviet units assigned to the Mediterranean and to Egypt's air defense.

Cairo's wording about "military equipment and installations," some experts suggest, may be ambiguous enough to be carried out by only a symbolic Egyptian takeover while continuing to permit Russian use of bases.

Nonetheless, Sadat made plain Egypt's disagreement with the Soviet Union, her big power supporter and supplier of billions of dollars worth of arms aid.

An ordinance authorizing the service director to advertise for bids for curbs and gutters on Watt St. from the Lancaster Pike to Stella Avenue.

Five ordinances authorizing transfer of funds were approved by Council. From the capital improvement fund, Council transferred the amount of $16,727.20 to the fire equipment fund. The money in addition to the $23,542.20 which is currently in the fund, will be used to pay for the new fire truck.

An amount of $275 was transferred from the general fund to the attorney fees fund to pay attorneys for defending the city in the case of Tatman vs. Circleville. In the case recently concluded, the decision was in favor of Circleville. The plaintiff had contended the city was negligent in not repairing a traffic light at Court and Mill Streets, claiming that because of the inoperative control device he had an automobile accident.

Council transferred $48 from the general fund to the fire department building demolition account. In addition $760 was transferred from the general fund to supplies and incidentals, maintenance and equipment accounts in the police department.

A total of $1,168.50 was transferred from the general fund to the municipal court jury trials, witness fees and maintenance and repair accounts. It was explained the general fund will eventually be reimbursed through fines and costs for the money expended in municipal court trials. Defendants must pay court costs if found guilty. The city stands the costs in cases where the defendant is found innocent.

COUNCIL BRIEFS

Public Utilities Director Charles Taylor announced at council the city's hearing before the state water pollution control board has been delayed. The hearing to lift the state's sewer permit freeze on the city was originally scheduled today. The city has been issuing sewer permits for new construction with the understanding that if the city's appeal of the freeze is denied, the sewer taps cannot be used.

Mayor Frank Barnhill reported the meeting with residents of the Isaac and Moats Subdivision between Ohio and Mount Streets was quite satisfactory. About 30 residents of the area attended. Water lines will definitely be extended to the Kingston Pike and Eva Drive and there is a strong possibility service will be provided residents of Brown Street. However, there are not enough residents wanting the service on Ray, Fay and John Streets to warrant installation.

of lines according to earlier surveys.

The cost of the project will be about $500 to each individual lot. Of this $175 is the tapping fee and must be paid to the city in cash. The remaining $300 plus can be paid in cash or certified to the county auditor for collection. Public Utilities Director Taylor recommends property owners borrow money from a bank or savings and loan association as less expensive rather than having the cost certified to the county auditor for collection.

It was also noted that many residents of the area want sewer service. However, Taylor said that because of the cost of the main trunkline to the nearest existing trunk, it would be necessary for all residents to have the service to keep the cost down.

Bids for extension of water lines to the area will be opened Aug. 2. Taylor expects the job to be completed with 60 to 90 days.

Public Service Director Atwood Jones reported that the TOPICS report for Circleville was completed.

Two communications concerning moving weeds on unoccupied lots by the city were read. The communications asked council to take the necessary steps to certify the costs to the auditor for collection from the landowner. One of the properties is at 155 W. Franklin St. and is owned by Eugene McDill, Salisbury, N. C. Cost was $16. The other property is owned by J. E. Metcalf, Columbus, and is in Garden City. Cost of cutting the weeds was placed at $70.

Mayor Barnhill announced the city's hearing before the Pickaway County Budget Commission is scheduled 9:45 a.m. in the office of Marvin Rhoades, county auditor.

Councilman Ben Gordon, not present at Tuesday's meeting, was excused by his fellow councilmen. Present were councilmen-at-large David Crawford and Keith Wagner; Fourth Ward Councilman Gladden Troutman, Third Ward Councilman Harold Hoffman; Second Ward Councilman Robert Kenworthy, First Ward Councilman David Goldschmidt; Clerk Robert Shadley, President Joe Bell, City Attorney William Stevens, Police Chief Robert Temple, Fire Chief Bernard Wolfe, Safety Director Ebert, Service Director Jones, Public Utilities Director Taylor.

The gallery contained representatives of the police and fire departments, on hand to hear reading of the proposed salary schedule ordinances.

It was hot and humid in council chambers and although it was a busy session, it was concluded before 9 p.m. Councilman Wagner suggested one of the two salary schedules be read by title only since both were basically the same.

Fields Sentenced

To Reformatory

Portsmouth State Hospital advised law officers here that it could not accept a person on probation, even under voluntary commitment, so Norman Vincent Fields was sent today to the Ohio State Reformatory to serve his prison term.

Judge William Ammer granted leniency last week for the Kingston man, who has repeatedly violated his probation, originally levied for indecent exposure. Ammer had noted that if the state hospital would accept Fields, he would not impose the prison sentence of 1 to 10 years.

Owens-Illinois Finds Way To End Paper-Making Smell

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) — Owens-Illinois, Inc. says it has found a way to eliminate unpleasant smells from one of the four major papermaking processes used by the nation's multi-billion dollar paper industry.

James A. Cobb, vice president of the company's Forest Products Division, called the new discovery "a major breakthrough for paper mills using hardwoods in the neutral sulfite semi-chemical papermaking process" to manufacture corrugating medium for shipping containers.

Cobb described the heart of the new process as a different chemical mixture for the cooking of hardwood chips that "eliminates sulfur without sacrificing the quality" of the corrugating medium.

Tests were conducted using the new process at company plants at Big Island, Va. and Tomahawk, Wis.

The results, said Cobb, were that the unpleasant smells associated with the operations "were virtually eliminated." Some other ecological benefits:

—The new system operates without any increase in chemical additives, a fact that may reduce the pollutant levels of effluents.

—Less wood is used in the process since the new chemical mix results in a greater yield in cellulose fiber pulp.

Cobb said the company was considering the licensing of the new process. He estimates it may have application in some two dozen semi-chemical corrugating medium plants in the United States and Canada.

A patent application on the process is pending.

The new Owens-Illinois technique is not applicable to any of the other three papermaking processes — the kraft process used for construction of linerboard, exterior materials for the corrugating medium; acid sulfite; and groundwood.

Cobb said research was continuing into possible adaptation of the new process to the softwoods operations.

Bailey, whose address is 469 E. Ohio St., entered a guilty plea to the auto larceny charge through his attorney and was sentenced to a 1-20 year prison term at Mansfield. A second charge, that of breaking into the Red Cross office, was nolle.

Then the county court ordered the release from state penal institutions three men. Frank Shepherd, 175 Hayward Ave., was granted probation for a three year period. He had been sentenced for violation of probation on a charge of issuing bad checks.

Robert Lee Wilson and William Crosby, both of South Bloomfield, were granted a sentence suspension and released as a probationer with the court for three years. The pair were found guilty of the burglary of Shifty's Tavern in that village and sentenced to 1-15 years for breaking and entry and 1-7 for grand larceny. They were returned here from the prison at Lebanon on a motion for shock probation.

A Logan woman, Cynthia Rumer, who admitted stealing a purse at the Kroger parking lot last December pleaded guilty to a reduced charge of petit larceny and was placed on probation for 18 months.

U.S. Doubts That Russians Leaving Egypt

Vague Statement By Sadat Leaves Large Loophole

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are keeping close watch on Soviet deployment in Egypt amid some skepticism here over how many Russians actually will pull out.

President Anwar Sadat's surprise announcement of an end to "the mission of Soviet military advisers and experts" underlined the most serious Moscow-Cairo dispute since Russian military personnel were invited into Egypt two years ago.

Sadat also said that "all the military equipment and installations set up within Egyptian territory . . . are to be the exclusive property of the Arab Republic of Egypt and under the administration of our armed forces."

But the Cairo announcement gave no figures on how many of an estimated 15,000 Russians in Egypt were supposed to leave.

While Sadat was quoted as saying the move was "actually implemented in full" Monday, there was no independent word here yet of any large scale Russian withdrawal.

The authoritative Cairo newspaper Al-Ahram said today that the pull out will not apply to Soviet military men who are training Egyptian forces.

Of the 15,000, approximately half are rated here as "advisers and experts" and the rest are believed to be in Soviet units assigned to the Mediterranean and to Egypt's air defense.

Cairo's wording about "military equipment and installations," some experts suggest, may be ambiguous enough to be carried out by only a symbolic Egyptian takeover while continuing to permit Russian use of bases.

Nonetheless, Sadat made plain Egypt's disagreement with the Soviet Union, her big power supporter and supplier of billions of dollars worth of arms aid.

He said the two remain friends. But he complained of Soviet failure to deliver promised arms in 1971, the year he said was to have been "decisive" against Israel. And he indicated Moscow turned him down further this year on weaponry for an offensive against Israel.

Canton Repository

Pact Hammered Out

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The 120 striking employees of the Canton Repository will vote Friday on a tentative agreement aimed at ending the five-month strike at the newspaper.

The pact was hammered out Tuesday after both sides met with federal mediator Chris Siesky. Details of the pact were withheld pending the ratification meeting. However, spokesmen for both sides agreed that each side had made concessions.

Sheriff's Deputies Investigate Five Grand Larceny Reports

Pickaway County Sheriff's deputies are investigating five grand larceny reports filed in their department Tuesday that totaled more than $1,000 in stolen merchandise.

Raymond Gahn, Route 4, Circleville, told dispatcher Russ Adams 3 p.m. Tuesday that thieves entered his Route 56 garage July 13 and took an estimated $389.10 worth of carpenter tools.

Gahn said the garage was unlocked.

Cathy Thompson, an office worker for the George VanCamp Co., Route 3, told Sheriff's Deputy Earl Kuhn that thieves took two tires and rims from a Case back hoe between 6 p.m. Tuesday and 6:30 a.m. Wednesday. They also took a truck battery.

Value of the stolen items was listed at $335.

The back hoe and truck were parked off the road on the east side of Route 23, a half mile north of the Ross County line at a road construction site.

Two western tool saddles and matching blankets were taken from the Circleville-Groveport Rd. barn of Leslie Cline, Route 1, Ashville, between 12:30 a.m. and 8:30 a.m. Tuesday.

The merchandise was valued at $181.

The thieves gained entrance to the barn by opening a large door. Other items in the barn were not taken.

A three-month-old female Collie pup, valued at $75, was taken between 5:30 p.m. and 9:30 p.m. Tuesday, according to the animal's owner, John W. Parrett, Jr., Route 1, Mt. Sterling.

Thieves removed a radio and wrench, valued at $74.50, from a tractor owned by William Richards, Route 2, according to Robert Alphone, 130 E. Mill St.

The thieves also vandalized the area near the tractor.

Volunteers Go To Haiti For Medical, Farm Work

PITTSBURGH (AP)—A small volunteer militia with modern medical equipment and 30,000 packages of garden seeds, has invaded rural areas of Haiti for a month-long offensive against disease.

The battle, begun this week, is sponsored by the Pittsburgh-based Brother's Brother Foundation, an interfaith, interracial organization which has made 36 overseas medical missions since 1958.

The 22 team members, led by Dr. Harry Helm of Columbia, Tenn., are doctors and nurses from Pennsylvania, Ohio, Maryland and Missouri.

They will provide immunization against tuberculosis, tetanus, diphtheria and polio for 280,000 rural Haitians, said Dr. Robert Hingston, medical director for the foundation.

The first group of volunteers, equipped with 25 jet injection guns, each capable of inoculating 1,000 persons per hour, set out Monday.

The workers also were carrying garden seeds, which will be distributed by college students from Ohio, as a reward to villages where 80 per cent of the people are treated.

One of the major objectives of the program, Hingston said, is to prevent lockjaw, which attacks newborn babies.

Last year, he said, more than 15,000 children died of the disease in Haiti, which has a population of 5 million. A preventative tetanus injected into pregnant women protects them and their children for six years, Hingston explained.

Total cost of the medication, supplies and garden seed is estimated by Hingston at more than $100,000. He said funds have been contributed by church and citizens groups, with vaccines and seed being

Local Teens Make Finals In Pageant

Three of eight local girls taking part in the Miss Ohio Teen-Ager pageant were entered in the final competition at Dayton last weekend.

Cindy DeLong, Karen Harmount and Carol Anderson, all teens from Pickaway County area, were among the 110 chosen in the preliminary elimination from a field of 296 young ladies entered.

The three took part in the final pageant, gowning in formal, during which Miss Sandra DeFrain, of Toledo, was crowned the Ohio teen queen. A court was also named for the young queen, but none of the local girls were among those selected.

Carol Anderson is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Anderson, Route 2, Circleville, a senior at Westfall; Cindy DeLong, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Daniel K. DeLong Sr., a 15-year-old student who will attend Logan Elm this fall; and Karen Harmount, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hewitt Harmount, Route 1, Ashville, a senior at Teays Valley High.

Others from this area who were pageant candidates were: Sheri Allen, Route 4; Tammy Hanley, Route 2, Ashville; Debbie Penwell, Tarlton; Jill Trego, Ashville and Ruth Beck, 116 E. Water St.

Access Imperiled

East Germany, which has long been regarded as one of the most dogmatic of all communist states, has enacted a new structure that may drastically effect not only its economy, but passenger travel between East Germany and West Berlin.

The government of Erich Honecker, East Germany's party chief, has placed a freeze on all East German salaries, with a monthly wage ceiling of 2,000 marks. The average wage-earner's income will remain at about 750 marks (close to $200).

In addition, all 3,200 remaining privately-owned firms and 5,600 semi-private concerns with partial state ownership will have to sell their interests to the state. The motive is to complete the socialization of the country and wipe out all remnants of capitalism.

The significance of these actions could be to cut down or eliminate free travel to the West, or the reverse, because the Honecker regime feared that thousands of East Germans would settle permanently in West Germany in search of higher living standards.

The two Germany's agreed last December to end harassment of Berlin traffic and time-consuming checks of vehicles at eastern checkpoints. The agreements, designed to end the cold war in this perennial trouble spot, has run into snags over reciprocity and is not yet final.

A stiffening attitude now would be a sad mistake, setting back the cause of amity and souring further negotiations over unimpeded access. It is up to the Big Four ambassadors, who authorized the talks, to bring the dissident factions together and convince both that if full normalization of relations is ever to be achieved this is a good place to start.

Not Perfect

The law is not always just, as Vincent Lopez of Denver discovered on a visit to Wyoming. Finding a small fawn which was dying, Lopez took it home, nursed it back to health and returned it to the forest where he found it.

His thanks was a fine of $58 — $25 for picking up the fawn, $25 for removing it from the state and $8 for court costs. What makes the story news is the unfairness of it all. Americans expect their system of justice to be just that and it is news when it is not.

Justice fails from time to time, but when the Lopez story becomes commonplace is when the system itself will have failed.

Convention Notes

By JEFFERY HART

There are some surprising things to be learned from European journalists covering the convention here. The McGovern candidacy does not please the principal Communist capitals, where the pros prefer to deal with Nixon, a known quantity. Moscow planners, for example, prefer a stable and relatively predictable U.S. line abroad to the erratic lurches possible under a McGovern neo-isolationism.

In Warsaw, oddly enough, the politburo is going so far as to crank up a pro-Nixon campaign, complete with mailings, beamed at the Polish-American voter. As they see it, the U.S. presence in Europe, uncertain under McGovern, provides them with a political counter-balance to the Soviet giant.

Privately, the NATO capitals

regard the McGovern foreign policy with total abhorrence.

Edward Heath's perspective is subtly different. His prime foreign policy goal is to take Britain into Europe. He is therefore not displeased, in the short run, to be able to point to McGovernism as a symptom of American weakness and instability. He will orchestrate the line: England must go into Europe because the U.S. cannot be counted on.

Weirdly enough, even Peking prefers Nixon. As they see it, a declining U.S. role in Europe frees the "Soviet imperialists" for "adventurism" in Asia, and permits a Soviet buildup on the Siberian-Chinese border.

Just about the only notable foreign capital that sees any gain in a McGovern victory is Hanoi.

Observed one major British foreign correspondent: This American election is viewed with more interest abroad than any since 1944. In contrast, the world beyond America's borders could hardly be said to exist for the speakers and delegates inside Convention Hall. Little or nothing was said about foreign policy. The platform itself was almost wholly negative on the subject, except for what must be a pro forma commitment to Israel. In its focus, it was the most isolationist national convention since the 1930s.

Several White House

operatives were on the scene in Miami, both above and below ground. One, surrounded by TV sets in his Fontainebleau suite, kept track of Democrats who were getting the bad end of the stick from the McGovernites. These would then be discreetly contacted. A substantial number of outraged Democrats, plus Democrats concerned about survival, are actively dealing with the Nixon camp.

The oratorical flop of the convention was keynoter Reubin Askew, Governor of Florida. Former Republican Governor Claude Kirk must have been a complete political cadaver for Askew to have made it. He trotted forth a string of neo-Sorensonian banalities. My favorite: "An incurable disease is only a disease for which no cure has been found." Ask no what you can do for your disease. . . Really, incurable utopianism in a politician ought to be terminal.

The White House has accumulated an enormous dossier of past McGovern statements and positions. It turns out that, as on Israel, as on the economy, as on taxes, and as on welfare, McGovern has said anything and everything. Compared with McGovern, it seems, Barry Goldwater was the essence of discretion. This load of bricks — sometimes referred to as the six bags of dirt — is scheduled to be dropped on McGovern when it will do the most harm.

Speaking of YOUR HEALTH...

by LESTER I. COLEMAN, M.D.

Why is it dangerous for someone to take a sleeping pill after having had a drink of alcohol?

Dear Mr. R.: Numerous warnings about the combination of alcohol, sleeping pills and tranquilizers have alerted people to the possible dangers of their interaction.

Alcohol alone can be toxic, even in small amounts, to some people. Others may have a high tolerance for alcohol. Similarly, people vary in their responses to varied doses of sleeping pills, particularly the barbiturates.

When any of these drugs are taken in combination, it is difficult to accurately anticipate the reaction to them. The combined effect may be far greater than that of a single drug.

The reflexes and judgment of someone taking the combined drugs are diminished, and may be responsible for great personal hazard. In large quantities, combinations of these drugs can be lethal.

The depressing effects of sleeping pills, tranquilizers, and alcohol, when taken singly or in combination, may affect the entire nervous system, the heart and the lungs. "Mixing drugs" should be done only by the pharmacist who knows so well the exact chemistry of each.

What is the difference between arteriosclerosis and atherosclerosis?

Mr. J.S., Ark. Dear Mr. S.: They are not the same technically, but the terms are often used interchangeably.

Actually, arteriosclerosis is a form of arteriosclerosis in which there are degenerative changes in the walls of the blood vessels.

During the past 25 years, much has been learned about the relationship between arteriosclerosis and diets that are rich in saturated fats like butter, beef fats, and coconut oils. For this reason, there has been an active dietary shift to the unsaturated fats like corn oils, fish oils, and the "seed" oils.

Arteriosclerosis itself is a change in the blood vessels, the arteries, and the veins owing to chronic inflammation.

In both conditions, the blood vessels become narrowed, and the amount of blood that carries the life-giving oxygen to the organs is markedly diminished.

At what age should a child with crossed eyes have surgery for this condition?

Mrs. T.C.N., Idaho Dear Mrs. N.: Crossed eyes and a "cast" in the eye are lay terms for strabismus.

Not all cases of crossed eyes need surgery. Many will be remedied by special orthoptic exercises and by the use of eyeglasses.

It is important that all children with strabismus be under the watchful care of the eye specialist who evaluates each individual case, and makes prompt judgment for the medical or the surgical treatment of this condition.

According To Boyle

NEW YORK (AP) — Remarks people get tired of hearing when they come back from a vacation:

"Have you been away?" "You didn't get much of a tan, did you?" "You missed the best weather of the year while you were away."

"I'd like to hear all about your vacation, but I guess it'll have to wait until I get back. I'm leaving on my own vacation in half an hour."

"You put on a few pounds, didn't you?" "Oh, is that where you went? We stayed there year before last. Is it still as terrible as ever?"

"It's a good thing you came back so soon, George. That guy who filled in for you did a great job."

"Think of all the things you could buy now if you'd just stayed home and saved your money."

"Your children behaved like perfect little angels, but I'm glad you're back. Your daughter has the mumps and your son broke his collar bone yesterday, and right now he's getting pretty fretful."

"I knew I'd left one of the gas jets on the stove burning. It has been burning for two whole weeks. Heaven knows what our gas bill will be this month."

"We missed you, George. But that new guy who filled in for you is an awful nice guy, too."

"I didn't even notice you'd gone until yesterday."

"The first thing I found in the mail this morning was a letter from that vacation lodge saying they had undercharged you $124.50, and asking you to send a check for that amount by return mail. Can they do that to us?"

"I know you said you had a fine time on your vacation, but tell me, what was it really like?"

"Of course, I want to hear about your vacation. But first I want to tell you about mine."

"You look tired. What you need is a vacation from your vacation."

"We'd love to come over and see the pictures you took on your vacation, George. Shall we make it next month sometime?"

"You picked a great time to come back. The worst heat wave of the season is supposed to start tomorrow."

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — America's tax bill averages about $4,500 per household, or $2,000 more than 10 years ago, causing rumblings and mutterings about a tax revolt by those hardest hit.

But that's only half the story. As many, or more, are demanding greater government expenditures, for health and welfare especially, and Congress seems willing to go along with them.

The situation is developing into a mass confrontation of opposing philosophical and practical views on what course the country is to take. One group calls it a tax problem, the other a spending problem. Both demand reform.

Few politicians care to discuss it before November, but regardless of which course is taken over the long term, the outcome of the immediate battle seems likely to be—you guessed it—a tax increase in 1973.

The reason for this conclusion, now shared by a large number of economists and researchers, is that government spending commitments already exceed revenues.

With the fiscal 1973 budget deficit likely to be near $30 billion, the three-year total 1971-1973 may exceed $80 billion, a stupendous figure when measured against any other "peace-time" period.

Whether or not spending can be better controlled after 1973 depends to some extent on the outcome of this year's election, but it is worth noting that recent deficits were run up by a President who considers himself a spending conservative.

The past also offers a suggestion: Figures supplied by the Tax Foundation demonstrate that in recent years the country has been demanding more services from its government but has been more reluctant to pay the bills.

In 1962, the foundation reports, expenditures per household by local, state and federal governments were $3,225. By 1968 the comparable figure was $4,676, and for 1972 it was more than $6,200.

By contrast, taxes per household in 1962 were about $2,500, rising to more than $3,600 in 1968 and to more than $4,500 in 1972, a percentage rise of only 77.5 per cent, compared with a spending advance of 93 per cent.

While inflation has many causes, this gap between revenues and expenditures is cited by economists as one of the underlying causes. Inflation, they point out, is really an unlegislated tax.

If a tax increase does come, what will be its form? Again, a lot depends on which party is most successful.

Present speculation puts a value added tax at the top of the list, especially if President Nixon is re-elected. Simply, this tax would be levied every time value is added to a commodity as it proceeds through the production process.

Tax analysts figure such a levy would yield $15 billion in revenues to the federal government, but it also could erode the tax base. It would, for example, put upward pressure on prices and tend to discourage demand.

Higher income taxes also are mentioned as a possibility, no matter who is elected, although there is considerable feeling among economists that such a move would be accompanied by relief at lower income brackets.

Access Imperiled

Fast Germany, which has long been regarded as one of the most dogmatic of all communist states, has enacted a new structure that may drastically effect not only its economy, but passenger travel between East Germany and West Berlin.

The government of Erich Honecker, East Germany's party chief, has placed a freeze on all East German salaries, with a monthly wage ceiling of 2,000 marks. The average wage-earner's income will remain at about 750 marks (close to $200).

In addition, all 3,200 remaining privately-owned firms and 5,600 semi-private concerns with partial state ownership will have to sell their interests to the state. The motive is to complete the socialization of the country and wipe out all remnants of capitalism.

The significance of these actions could be to cut down or eliminate free travel to the West, or the reverse, because the Honecker regime feared that thousands of East Germans would settle permanently in West Germany in search of higher living standards.

The two Germany's agreed last December to end harassment of Berlin traffic and time-consuming checks of vehicles at eastern checkpoints. The agreements, designed to end the cold war in this perennial trouble spot, has run into snags over reciprocity and is not yet final.

A stiffening attitude now would be a sad mistake, setting back the cause of amity and souring further negotiations over unimpeded access. It is up to the Big Four ambassadors, who authorized the talks, to bring the dissident factions together and convince both that if full normalization of relations is ever to be achieved this is a good place to start.

Not Perfect

The law is not always just, as Vincent Lopez of Denver discovered on a visit to Wyoming. Finding a small fawn which was dying, Lopez took it home, nursed it back to health and returned it to the forest where he found it.

His thanks was a fine of $58 — $25 for picking up the fawn, $25 for removing it from the state and $8 for court costs.

What makes the story news is the unfairness of it all. Americans expect their system of justice to be just that and it is news when it is not.

Justice fails from time to time, but when the Lopez story becomes commonplace is when the system itself will have failed.

Convention Notes

By JEFFERY HART

There are some surprising things to be learned from European journalists covering the convention here. The McGovern candidacy does not please the principal Communist capitals, where the pros prefer to deal with Nixon, a known quantity. Moscow planners, for example, prefer a stable and relatively predictable U.S. line abroad to the erratic lurches possible under a McGovern neo-isolationism.

In Warsaw, oddly enough, the poliburo is going so far as to crank up a pro-Nixon campaign, complete with mailings, beamed at the Polish-American voter. As they see it, the U.S. presence in Europe, uncertain under McGovern, provides them with a political counter-balance to the Soviet giant.

Privately, the NATO capitals

regard the McGovern foreign policy with total abhorrence.

Edward Heath's perspective is subtly different. His prime foreign policy goal is to take Britain into Europe. He is therefore not displeased, in the short run, to be able to point to McGovernism as a symptom of American weakness and instability. He will orchestrate the line: England must go into Europe because the U.S. cannot be counted on.

Weirdly enough, even Peking prefers Nixon. As they see it, a declining U.S. role in Europe frees the "Soviet imperialists" for "adventurism" in Asia, and permits a Soviet buildup on the Siberian-Chinese border.

Just about the only notable foreign capital that sees any gain in a McGovern victory is Hanoi.

Observed one major British foreign correspondent: This American election is viewed with more interest abroad than any since 1944.

In contrast, the world beyond America's borders could hardly be said to exist for the speakers and delegates inside Convention Hall. Little or nothing was said about foreign policy. The platform itself was almost wholly negative on the subject, except for what must be a pro forma commitment to Israel. In its focus, it was the most isolationist national convention since the 1930s.

Several White House

operatives were on the scene in Miami, both above and below ground. One, surrounded by TV sets in his Fontainebleau suite, kept track of Democrats who were getting the bad end of the stick from the McGovernites. These would then be discreetly contacted. A substantial number of outraged Democrats, plus Democrats concerned about survival, are actively dealing with the Nixon camp.

The oratorical flop of the convention was keynote Reubin Askew, Governor of Florida. Former Republican Governor Claude Kirk must have been a complete political cadaver for Askew to have made it. He trotted forth a string of neo-Sorensonian banalities. My favorite: "An incurable disease is only a disease for which no cure has been found." Ask not what you can do for your disease . . . Really, incurable utopianism in a politician ought to be terminal.

The White House has accumulated an enormous dossier of past McGovern statements and positions. It turns out that, as on Israel, as on the economy, as on taxes, and as on welfare, McGovern has said anything and everything. Compared with McGovern, it seems, Barry Goldwater was the essence of discretion. This load of bricks — sometimes referred to as the six bags of dirt — is scheduled to be dropped on McGovern when it will do the most harm.

Why is it dangerous for someone to take a sleeping pill after having had a drink of alcohol?

Mr. L.R., W.Va.

Dear Mr. R.:

Numerous warnings about the combination of alcohol, sleeping pills and tranquilizers have alerted people to the possible dangers of their interaction.

Alcohol alone can be toxic, even in small amounts, to some people. Others may have a high tolerance for alcohol. Similarly, people vary in their responses to varied doses of sleeping pills, particularly the barbiturates.

When any of these drugs are taken in combination, it is difficult to accurately anticipate the reaction to them. The combined effect may be far greater than that of a single drug.

The reflexes and judgment of someone taking the combined drugs are diminished, and may be responsible for great personal hazard. In large quantities, combinations of these drugs can be lethal.

The depressing effects of sleeping pills, tranquilizers, and alcohol, when taken singly or in combination, may affect the entire nervous system, the heart and the lungs. "Mixing drugs" should be done only by the pharmacist who knows so well the exact chemistry of each.

What is the difference between arteriosclerosis and atherosclerosis?

Mr. J.S., Ark.

Dear Mr. S.:

They are not the same technically, but the terms are often used interchangeably.

Actually, arteriosclerosis is a form of arteriosclerosis in which there are degenerative changes in the walls of the blood vessels.

During the past 25 years, much has been learned about the relationship between arteriosclerosis and diets that are rich in saturated fats like butter, beef fats, and coconut oils. For this reason, there has been an active dietary shift to the unsaturated fats like corn oils, fish oils, and the "seed" oils.

Arteriosclerosis itself is a change in the blood vessels, the arteries, and the veins owing to chronic inflammation. In both conditions, the blood vessels become narrowed, and the amount of blood that carries the life-giving oxygen to the organs is markedly diminished.

At what age should a child with crossed eyes have surgery for this condition?

Mrs. T.C.N., Idaho

Dear Mrs. N.:

Crossed eyes and a "cast" in the eye are lay terms for strabismus.

Not all cases of crossed eyes need surgery. Many will be remedied by special orthoptic exercises and by the use of eyeglasses.

It is important that all children with strabismus be under the watchful care of the eye specialist who evaluates each individual case, and makes prompt judgment for the medical or the surgical treatment of this condition.

Scioto Society Hires Director For 'Tecumseh'

A director has been obtained for The Scioto Society's outdoor drama, "Tecumseh!"

W. L. Mundell, Scioto Society executive vice president, said Monday that he had negotiated an agreement with Dr. David Weiss, currently the director of the outdoor drama "Trail of Tears" in Tahquah, Okla.

Weiss gave a tentative agreement last week during a conference with Mundell and Allan Eckert, author of the historical drama. The group had been discussing the final version of the script.

The agreement is tentative until it has been approved by the Scioto Society executive committee. Mundell plans to seek a meeting of the committee as soon as possible to act on the contract.

Mundell noted that he was extremely pleased to have Weiss "because he is one of the finest — if not the finest — directors in outdoor drama today."

Weiss has been serving the local group as a theater lighting consultant during preparations for constructing the Sugarloaf Mountain amphitheatre.

Ohio Bonus For Vietnam Vets Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio House Speaker Charles Kurfess favors creation of a state bonus for Vietnam veterans and has a suggestion for getting the program rolling quickly.

A surplus of $11 million in the Korean Conflict Compensation Fund could be made available to help pay the bonuses Kurfess told Gov. John Gilligan in a letter Tuesday.

"The use of the fund's balance could help to expedite compensation to Vietnam conflict veterans rather than having to await bonding and any other budgetary requirements," Kurfess said.

He said he does not believe the surplus will be needed to balance the state budget and urged that it not be transferred to the General Revenue fund.

Action by the General Assembly on a Vietnam bonus program can be expected in the near future, Kurfess said, in view of "the rapid reduction of American involvement in Vietnam."

Robert Baker, assistant state finance director, noted that the funds must be certified as surplus by the state Sinking Fund Commission after all obligations to the Korean Conflict veterans have been met. "This could take several months," he said.

And he pointed out that the budget bill passed by the legislature last December directed that any surplus in the fund must be transferred into the General Revenue Fund subject to approval of the Sinking Fund Commission.

Q. How did you, as an individual and as a working actor, react to a situation that combined a tragedy and your biggest career break?

A. On New Year's Eve, 1971, my "working actor" status may have ended: "I was informed I would replace the late Pete Duel. The actor in me said "do the job," but to replace a talented actor in an established show was not going to be easy. That's how I came to the set two days later.

My first impression was that only a few days had passed since Pete's death, with all the headlines, funeral and talk. To everyone on the set, Hannibal Heyes—or Smith, his alias—was still Pete Duel.

The limousine let me off at the end of a western street and I walked to the portable dressing-room trailers. There was Ben Murphy's—Jones—and there was Pete's. His horse was there with Ben's. The door to Pete's trailer was open and I could see boots and clothes that I recognized as his.

Someone handed me Pete's gunbelt — and when I put my hand down to draw the revolver I realized it, too, was Pete's. I remember feeling lost and a little sick.

Every one in the cast tried to make things easier. Ben Murphy took a long walk before the first take. The director made a short speech, a pep talk.

The sun went behind a cloud and we all had to wait. Then the sun came out and Ben came sauntering back. He looked at me and tried to smile in spite of everything: "Well, Roger, let's get started."

Q. The sudden change of status must have been emotionally disturbing. Was the readjustment difficult?

A. I kept recalling an incident shortly before that. I was crossing 56th Street and Seventh Avenue in New York, full of orange juice from a health food joint, when a young couple squared off directly in my path. The man said, "Hey, you're Roger Davis, aren't you?"

"Yes," I said, pleased with the recognition. Then, after a long pause, "What have you seen me in?"

The lady replied, all innocence and candor, "Oh, nothing. Carl and I are trivia buffs."

In the years since college and graduate school, I had to be classified simply as a working actor.

It's a distinction I have come to respect. Suddenly I had to face the problems of a "name actor." The stakes become high ones and failure is serious. But the years as a working actor had taught me to attempt to keep myself "off the spot," and not worry as to how the performance will be judged. That's how I came to the set that first day, determined to be adequate.

Personnel Chief Wants Job Back

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — James E. Hughel apparently has changed his mind about resigning as chairman of the State Personnel Board of Review, but it's too late as far as Gov. John Gilligan is concerned.

A spokesman for the governor said Gilligan has accepted Hughel's resignation and has begun the process of finding a replacement.

Shortly after Gilligan announced Hughel's resignation Tuesday, Hughel issued a denial and scheduled a news conference today to discuss his status.

Hughel said he had written a letter of resignation but later rescinded it.

Robert Tenenbaum, the governor's press secretary, said Hughel is "under the impression he can write a letter of resignation to the governor and then change his mind a week later."

"I don't know why he resigned and know less why he changed his mind," Tenenbaum said.

Hughel is the only Democrat on the board. Republican members are Frank Avren and Earl Allison, holdover appointees from the previous GOP state administration.

Charles Dozier also is wanted on grand larceny and burglary charges in South Carolina.

'Inmate Attorney' Busy With Appeals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Jerome Blair Freeman who operates an amateur law practice from his cell in the Ohio Penitentiary hasn't won a case yet, but he's still appealing.

Convicted three times, Freeman has spent 13 of his last 16 years in prison. He spends his time studying law books and filing many court actions.

No one knows better how many than Leonard Kirschner, assistant Hamilton County prosecutor in charge of appeals. He has a file drawer filled with briefs, affidavits and suits filed by Freeman.

"He has taught me some law," Kirschner admitted. "He comes up with some things that I have to look up."

Freeman, 37, currently is serving a one-to-seven-year term for larceny by trick.

He said Freeman has had about 35 hearings in various courts, but has some doubts about the prisoner's overall legal expertise.

"I think the man knows some law," said Kirschner, "but his personal ego probably gets him in trouble. For saying this, I'll probably get sued."

"The thing that worries me most," said Kirschner, "is that in the mass of papers he keeps filing I might miss a technicality."

Freeman announced last week that he will represent two Cincinnatians at the penitentiary who were convicted of murder.

They were Larry T. Johnson, 33, in jail for the 1962 slaying of a service station attendant, and

Scioto Society Hires Director For 'Tecumseh'

A director has been obtained for The Scioto Society's outdoor drama, "Tecumseh!"

W. L. Mundell, Scioto Society executive vice president, said Monday that he had negotiated an agreement with Dr. David Weiss, currently the director of the outdoor drama "Trail of Tears" in Tahlequah, Okla.

Weiss gave a tentative agreement last week during a conference with Mundell and Allan Eckert, author of the historical drama. The group had been discussing the final version of the script.

The agreement is tentative until it has been approved by the Scioto Society executive committee. Mundell plans to seek a meeting of the committee as soon as possible to act on the contract.

MUNDELL noted that he was extremely pleased to have Weiss "because he is one of the finest — if not the finest — directors in outdoor drama today."

Weiss has been serving the local group as a theater lighting consultant during preparations for constructing the Sugarloaf Mountain amphitheatre.

Ohio Bonus For Vietnam Vets Studied

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio House Speaker Charles Kurfess favors creation of a state bonus for Vietnam veterans and has a suggestion for getting the program rolling quickly.

A surplus of $11 million in the Korean Conflict Compensation Fund could be made available to help pay the bonuses Kurfess told Gov. John Gilligan in a letter Tuesday.

"The use of the fund's balance could help to expedite compensation to Vietnam conflict veterans rather than having to await bonding and any other budgetary requirements," Kurfess said.

He said he does not believe the surplus will be needed to balance the state budget and urged that it not be transferred to the General Revenue fund.

Action by the General Assembly on a Vietnam bonus program can be expected in the near future, Kurfess said, in view of "the rapid reduction of American involvement in Vietnam."

Robert Baker, assistant state finance director, noted that the funds must be certified as surplus by the state Sinking Fund Commission after all obligations to the Korean Conflict veterans have been met. "This could take several months," he said.

And he pointed out that the budget bill passed by the legislature last December directed that any surplus in the fund must be transferred into the General Revenue Fund subject to approval of the Sinking Fund Commission.

He is a member of the American Institute of Outdoor Drama and the Southeastern Theater Conference, and is chairman of the Department of Speech and Drama at the University of Virginia.

Weiss has directed the "Trail of Tears" drama for the past four years. Before, he had directed other outdoor dramas, Mundell said.

Mundell said Weiss was considering several other positions, but agreed to the Scioto Society offer because he felt "Tecumseh!" offered him the greatest opportunity for creative directing.

Mundell, Eckert and Weiss completed the final draft of the script for "Tecumseh!" while meeting in Oklahoma Tuesday through Friday. Mundell has the last draft in Chillicothe for final typing and approval by the Scioto Society script committee. Some of the changes made at last week's meetings, he said, were made to tighten the action of the drama and add dramatic impact in some scenes.

A PIONEER square dance was added to a prisoner exchange scene and a Shawnee war dance was added, but the drama remains about two hours long, the society executive said. The trio also went through a detailed step by step breakdown of the occurrences at the Battle of Tippecanoe, which will be one of the largest battle scenes ever depicted in an outdoor historical drama.

The script changes were shown to Arthur Rolette, tribal chairman of the Shawnee Nation, who approved the changes and offered his best wishes for the drama in its current form, Mundell said.

Weiss is expected to begin working immediately on recommendations for additional professional staff needed prior to the opening of the drama, and will come here in late September or early October for a conference with the costume designer, theater designer and technical director for the drama.

Local auditions have been tentatively scheduled in Chillicothe for late January. These auditions will include talent within a range of about 200 miles of Chillicothe, including universities from Pittsburgh through Chicago, Mundell reported.

Following local auditions, the director plans to hold auditions the first week in March in Pensacola, Fla., at the annual Southeastern Theater Conference auditions. In mid-March, auditions will be held at the Institute of Outdoor Drama headquarters at the University of North Carolina, Chapel Hill. In late March, auditions for equity actors needed to complete the cast will be held in New York City.

Plans now have the completed cast reporting here June 1, 1973 to begin rehearsals. Mundell said that rehearsals will run seven days a week for four full weeks prior to the "premier" performance tentatively scheduled for June 28.

Lonnie O. Miller, convicted of the 1967 murder of a butcher in the Avondale section.

Kirschner doubted that Freeman will be allowed to represent the men, but that hasn't deterred Freeman from filing documents in their behalf.

Freeman said in recent documents that he was acting in the interest of humanitarianism in representing Miller and Johnson, both of whom "are legally psychologically dependent on the singular ability of myself adequately represent a n y claims to constitutionality relative to their convictions."

Freeman, a high school dropout, said he took a Dale Carnegie self-help course to build confidence. He has told interviewers he felt "eminently qualified" to represent himself and others.

Freeman has lost all his appeals, including one before the U.S. Supreme Court, but undaunted, he continues to try.

James Meredith To Leave Politics

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — James Meredith says he is dropping out of politics because it has become "clear that I am not in tune nor in step with either the black bourgeois nor the black masses."

Meredith, who desegregated the University of Mississippi in 1962 said Monday that he was also "resigning from any role of public leadership because there is perhaps nothing more futile than trying to project an idea whose time is not at hand." Meredith sought the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate but was defeated in the June primary. He then announced he would run as an independent candidate for Congress from the 4th District, which includes his home area of Jackson.

James Meredith To Leave Politics

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — James Meredith says he is dropping out of politics because it has become "clear that I am not in tune nor in step with either the black bourgeois nor the black masses."

Meredith, who desegregated the University of Mississippi in 1962 said Monday that he was also "resigning from any role of public leadership because there is perhaps nothing more futile than trying to project an idea whose time is not at hand." Meredith sought the Republican nomination to the U.S. Senate but was defeated in the June primary. He then announced he would run as an independent candidate for Congress from the 4th District, which includes his home area of Jackson.

Chou Raps Arms Accord

TOKYO (AP) — Chou En-Lai said Monday night that the strategic arms limitation agreements President Nixon signed in Moscow was not a step toward disarmament, it was a new stage of the arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"The ink on the agreements was hardly dry before one announced an increase of billions of dollars for military expenditure and the other hastened to test new-type weapons, clamoring for seizing military superiority," the Chinese Communist premier said in a speech in Peking Monday night.

"The superpowers have not ceased their expansion and aggression against other countries, and the international atmosphere is far from truly relaxed."

Chou's speech was reported by Hsinhua, the official New China News Agency.

Chou was addressing an banquet for a government delegation from Yemen.

Sweetened Farm Subsidies Aimed At Wheat Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweetened billion-dollar farm subsidy plan by the Nixon administration is expected to bite into huge surplus stockpiles next year even if the Soviet Union decides not to buy any U.S. bread grain.

The plan, announced Monday by the Agriculture Department, could pay farmers about $1.1 billion for trimming wheat acreage next year, a record high subsidy for the crop and about $100 million more than payments for 1972.

It is basically the same as for this year but includes additional incentives to entice more acres from wheat production. The basic government price support loan will remain unchanged at $1.25 per bushel.

A department spokesman, noting the build up of wheat surpluses to the highest level in nearly a decade, told reporters the 1973 acreage "set-aside" program benefits could run $100 million more than the billion spent on payments this year.

"It was drawn up without taking into consideration the possibility of the Soviet sale," Glenn A. Weir, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said.

Weir referred to a recently announced $750 million sale of U.S. grain to the Soviets over the next three years.

"But if exports, and sales to the Soviet Union materialize, then farmers stand to gain and cost to the government will be lower," he said.

The program is keyed partly to markets, meaning that if farmers get higher prices for cash sales they will rely less on government payments.

The program is aimed at taking 25 million acres from wheat production next year, compared with about 20 million idled this harvest.

A major change for 1973 is in an "optional" provision intended to entice farmers to remove 10 million acres from wheat production in addition to their basic idled acres.

For that, the government plans to pay farmers an average of $20 per acre or more to reduce acres for harvest next year.

The reason is apparent: On July 1 the wheat "carryover" or surplus was more than 900 million bushels, the most since 1934-35.

Much of the current surplus is the result of a record harvest of 1.6 billion bushels last year, coupled with a sharp dip in exports which was blamed, partly, on dock strikes.

Chou Raps Arms Accord

TOKYO (AP) — Chou En-Lai said Monday night that the strategic arms limitation agreements President Nixon signed in Moscow was not a step toward disarmament, it was a new stage of the arms race between the United States and the Soviet Union.

"The ink on the agreements was hardly dry before one announced an increase of billions of dollars for military expenditure and the other hastened to test new-type weapons, clamoring for seizing military superiority," the Chinese Communist premier said in a speech in Peking Monday night. "The superpowers have not ceased their expansion and aggression against other countries, and the international atmosphere is far from truly relaxed."

Chou's speech was reported by Hsinhua, the official New China News Agency. Chou was addressing a banquet for a government delegation from Yemen.

Sweetened Farm Subsidies Aimed At Wheat Production

WASHINGTON (AP) — A sweetened billion-dollar farm subsidy plan by the Nixon administration is expected to bite into huge surplus stockpiles next year even if the Soviet Union decides not to buy any U.S. bread grain.

The plan, announced Monday by the Agriculture Department, could pay farmers about $1.1 billion for trimming wheat acreage next year, a record high subsidy for the crop and about $100 million more than payments for 1972.

It is basically the same as for this year but includes additional incentives to entice more acres from wheat production. The basic government price support loan will remain unchanged at $1.25 per bushel.

A department spokesman, noting the build up of wheat surpluses to the highest level in nearly a decade, told reporters the 1973 acreage "set-aside" program benefits could run $100 million more than the billion spent on payments this year.

"It was drawn up without taking into consideration the possibility of the Soviet sale," Glenn A. Weir, deputy administrator of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service said.

Weir referred to a recently announced $750 million sale of U.S. grain to the Soviets over the next three years.

"But if exports, and sales to the Soviet Union materialize, then farmers stand to gain and cost to the government will be lower," he said.

The program is keyed partly to markets, meaning that if farmers get higher prices for cash sales they will rely less on government payments.

The program is aimed at taking 25 million acres from wheat production next year, compared with about 20 million idled this harvest.

A major change for 1973 is in an "optional" provision intended to entice farmers to remove 10 million acres from wheat production in addition to their basic idled acres.

For that, the government plans to pay farmers an average of $20 per acre or more to reduce acres for harvest next year.

The reason is apparent: On July 1 the wheat "carryover" or surplus was more than 900 million bushels, the most since 1954-64.

Much of the current surplus is the result of a record harvest of 1.6 billion bushels last year, coupled with a sharp dip in exports which was blamed, partly, on dock strikes.

Dear Abby:

By Abigail Van Buren

Churchill Squelch Isn't For Everybody

DEAR ABBY: The Late Winston Churchill had the perfect squelch for idiots who approached him with, "I'll bet you don't remember me, do you?" Churchill would look them squarely in the eyes and ask, "Why SHOULD I?"

FRANK IN WESTMINSTER, CAL.

DEAR FRANK: Sir Winston could get probably get away with it, but I wouldn't recommend it for the ordinary Joe. He might promptly get something to remember the "idiot" by.

DEAR ABBY: I have had a problem bottled up inside of me for the last two years and I am so ashamed of it, I just have to tell someone.

I just HAVE babies! I don't know why, but I want to hurt them. Isn't that ridiculous? I want to overcome this terrible fault, but I can't.

I kept a neighbor's baby today and abused her so badly I was disgusted with myself. I hit her and pinched her, and knocked her around, and let her just cry. I didn't want to feed her either. She's not the only baby I have treated this way. Afterwards I feel so bad, I just sit and cry.

Abby, what's wrong with me? Could it be that someone treated me that way once when I was a baby? If so, I can't remember.

I have a six-year-old child of my own and I swear to you when she was small I never mistreated her once. So why am I this way to other people's babies?

I am so afraid that as a punishment God will take my precious child away from me. Please help me, Abby. I am a 28-year-old, healthy, educated married woman.

TREMBLING

DEAR TREMBLING: You need to talk this problem out with a professional counselor. The fact that you recognize the problem and are seeking a solution, proves that you are a good person. Talk to your doctor about it, and he will recommend the proper counseling for you. And in the meantime, please stay away from babies. God bless and good luck.

DEAR ABBY: What do you think of a friend who accepted an expensive wedding present, then wrote to say, "The wedding has been called off for the time being," because I had some second thoughts-but the gift you gave me looks great in my apartment! And since I'm still dating the guy, we might still get married later."

She closed with, "I don't know what the etiquette books say in cases like this, but if you know, please tell me."

PUZZLED IN N.Y.

DEAR PUZZLED: Tell her the etiquette books say that when the wedding has been called off, the wedding gifts should be returned.

DEAR ABBY: Concerning "A COUPLE OF CHUMPS" who had made a home for an aged and ailing parent for many years while their brothers and sisters who were better able financially contributed nothing, and looked out the window. The old gentleman didn't pay one red cent for his keep, although he had plenty of money. Finally when he died and his will was read, it was, "Share and share alike."

Please advise the "Chumps." If they promptly submit a bill for the old gentleman's care, they will be fully reimbursed out of the estate.

This is the exact what happened to me, and after I was reimbursed for keeping my invalid father for seven years, there was practically nothing left for the brothers and sisters who also looked out the window.

Report Bear Attack On 2 Ohio Youths

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Two Ohio youths, Orin Canary of Massillon and an unidentified boy from Richfield, have been injured by an attacking bear at a New Mexico camp.

Details of the Monday incident at the Philmont Boy Scout camp near Cimarron, N.M., were unavailable, but it was said to be similar to an incident last Sunday.

Increased Social Security Benefits Is Automatic

Social security beneficiaries need not apply for the 20 per cent benefit increase signed into law by President Nixon on July 1.

Social Security District Manager said today that all social security beneficiaries who are on the benefit roll in September will receive the increase automatically. The increase is effective beginning with the payments for the month of September.

The average monthly benefit for a retired worker goes up from $134 to $162; for a retired couple to $224 to about $271. A widowed mother with two children will receive an average social security benefit of about $386, up from $322. For a disabled worker with a wife and one or more children, the new average monthly payment will be about $354, increased from $295.

The special monthly payments that are made to certain individuals age 72 and over who are not insured for regular social security benefits will also be increased by 20 per cent, from $48.30 to $58.00 for an individual and from $72.50 to $87.00 for a couple. The new law also includes a provision for automatic annual increases in social security benefits as the cost of living rises in the future — a recommendation made by President Nixon in his 1969 message on social security.

Under the new law the contribution and benefit base — the maximum amount of annual earnings that are counted for benefit and contribution purposes — will rise from the present $9,000 a year to $10,800 in 1973 and to $12,000 in 1974. Thereafter, this amount would be adjusted automatically to keep pace with rising wages.

This means that as earnings rise workers whose earnings are at or above the level of the maximum earnings base will pay contributions on higher earnings — but they also will have those additional earnings counted toward the benefits that will be payable to them and their families in the future.

Police Use 'Safetytown' For Kids At Bellefontaine

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—Policeman John Sullivan helps make certain Bellefontaine's pre-school children are around on the first day of kindergarten.

He teaches them the rules of traffic and pedestrian safety at "Safetytown U.S.," a kid-sized town that brings hazards down to moped-eye level.

Operated jointly by the police department and the Exchange Club, Safetytown is a kindergarten-size mockup of the downtown business district.

It features real streets, sidewalks, traffic signs, street markers and an automatic stop-light. Miniature cinderblock buildings, each bearing the name of a Bellefontaine business establishment, line the paved streets.

Kids participating in free courses walk or peddle around min-town on tiny three-wheeled tractors.

Sullivan teaches them understanding of traffic signs and signals, the best places to cross streets, how to recognize emergency vehicles and school bus safety. "The purpose of Safetytown is to teach the youngsters traffic rules and safety in a controlled traffic situation," Sullivan explained.

"With Safetytown, the kids can learn in a situation that is as near to real as possible, but with complete safety.

"It's surprising how much they can pick up and retain even at that young age."

Bellefontaine merchants chipped in $75 apiece to finance the business place mockups.

The city recently spent $6,000 to pave the streets and permanently blacktop the site.

Two-hour classes are held twice a day for two weeks. One two-week session has been held this summer as a second course begins July 31.

Hamilton Man Faces Trial For Murder

HAMILTON, Ohio (AP)—Ronald Schenk, 27, of Hamilton will go on trial Sept. 6 on a first-degree murder charge in the slaying of his former wife.

Judge Robert Marrs of the Butler County Common Pleas

Court ruled Tuesday that Schenk is sane and capable of standing trial in the shooting death of Brenda Gail, 22, of near Hamilton on May 27. He pleaded innocent by reason of insanity.

Set Panel On Spanish Ohioans

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov. John Gilligan agreed Tuesday to appoint a statewide committee to deal with the problems of Spanish-speaking Ohioans.

Meeting with a group of Spanish-speaking citizens, most from Northwestern Ohio, Gilligan asked that they present recommendations as to the size of the committee and its membership.

Left unresolved was whether the committee would handle migrant labor problems or delegate them to the existing Governor's Committee on Migrant Labor.

Members of the delegation told Gilligan Ohio's Spanish-speaking population is between 75,000 and 100,000, and their problems go far beyond those of migratory labor.

One spokesman, Guillermo Vorhauer of Bowling Green, said many of the migrants who came to Ohio in previous years have settled in the state.

Their problems, Gilligan was told, include rural isolation, high infant mortality rates, education and health.

Vorhauer said the governor's migrant labor committee has been "effective" in dealing with problems.

How Weather Looks Today

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Here is a summary of Ohio's weather from the National Weather Service:

Summer with its hot humid weather and thunderstorms has finally arrived in Ohio and appears ready to stay a while.

The northern sections, especially the northeast, were hit the hardest Tuesday as numerous thunderstorms, some with strong gusty winds, rumbled repeatedly through that area during the afternoon and evening.

At Cleveland Hopkins International Airport two inches of rain fell and wind gusts associated with thunderstorms reached 64 M.P.H. Other official reports were .51 of an inch at Toledo and .54 of an inch at Findlay.

It appears that similar conditions will continue for the next several days and the more numerous storms should spread into the central and southern sections of the state during the afternoon and evening. Temperatures will again reach the upper 80s and low 90s and humid conditions will persist.

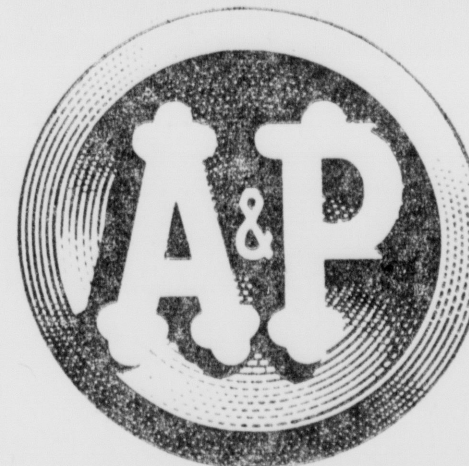

The weather map showed a weak, nearly stationary front through Ohio this morning. However the only feature that distinguished it was an area of more numerous thunderstorms since there was no longer any difference in temperatures and humidity on either side of it.

WEST LAKE SHORE, EAST LAKE SHORE, NORTHEAST INLAND, NORTHWEST INLAND — Variable cloudiness, warm and humid through Thursday with a chance of thundershowers mainly in the afternoon and evening. Highs Wednesday and Thursday in the upper 80s and low 90s except cooler near the lake. Lows Wednesday night in the upper 60s and low 70s.

WEST CENTRAL, CENTRAL, EAST CENTRAL, Variable cloudiness, warm and humid through Thursday with a chance of thundershowers mainly in the afternoon and evening. Highs Wednesday and Thursday in the upper 80s and low 90s. Lows Wednesday night in the upper 60s and low 70s.

HOW CAN YOU MAKE A BETTER CUP OF COFFEE?

First, buy bean coffee...not pre-ground coffee.

At A&P, we sell bean coffee.

The coffee bean is nature's seal that holds the flavor.

Once that seal is broken by grinding, flavor fades...

NO MATTER HOW IT'S PACKAGED.

The shorter the time between grinding the beans and brewing your coffee, the greater the flavor.

Second, have the beans ground to fit your coffeemaker.

At A&P, we custom grind the beans in a choice of seven different grinds...not one or two.

If you're using pre-ground coffee, switch.

This week, have an A&P bean coffee custom-ground to fit your coffeemaker.

You'll make a better cup of coffee.

Police Use 'Safetytown' For Kids At Bellefontaine

BELLEFONTAINE, Ohio (AP)—Policeman John Sullivan helps make certain Bellefontaine's pre-school children are around on the first day of kindergarten.

Recover Animals
In Coney Island
Zoo Robbery

NEW YORK (AP) — The tortoise, the motive and the watchdog were the last remaining questions today in the great Coney Island zoo robbery.

An anonymous tip Monday led police to a battered Brooklyn stable seven miles from the Astroland amusement park where the entire children's zoo was stolen early Sunday.

Detectives found the six Shetland ponies, 11 sheep, 31 goats, a llama, a miniature white bull and a coop of chickens suffering from heat prostration. But only a South American tortoise was missing.

Police arrested Toby Espoito, 19, on charges of possession of stolen property and cruelty to animals. But they said the motive for the robbery remained unclear.

Meanwhile back at the zoo the operator was wondering what his trained guard dog was doing while the thieves smashed several padlocks, tore down a fence and loaded the menagerie on a trailer for the getaway.

"The dog wasn't harmed at all, just left there," said a puzzled Elizabeth Hammond. "It's very strange."

Recover Animals In Coney Island Zoo Robbery

NEW YORK (AP) — The tortoise, the motive and the watchdog were the last remaining questions today in the great Coney Island zoo robbery.

An anonymous tip Monday led police to a battered Brooklyn stable seven miles from the Astroland amusement park where the entire children's zoo was stolen early Sunday.

Detectives found the six Shetland ponies, 11 sheep, 11 goats, a llama, a miniature white bull and a coop of chickens suffering from heat prostration. But only a South American tortoise was missing.

Police arrested Toby Espino, 19, on charges of possession of stolen property and cruelty to animals. But they said the motive for the robbery remained unclear.

Meanwhile back at the zoo the operator was wondering what her trained guard dog was doing while the thieves smashed several padlocks, tore down a fence and loaded the menagerie on a trailer for the getaway.

"The dog wasn't harmed at all, just left there," said a puzzled Elizabeth Hammond. "It's very strange."

Jane Fonda Sees 'Deliberate Crater'

TOKYO (AP) — Actress Jane Fonda was quoted over Radio Hanoi as saying that she has seen a huge bomb crater in the center of the Bach Mai Hospital in the North Vietnamese capital.

"It was obviously dropped there on purpose," the Vietnam News Agency quoted Miss Fonda as saying Monday.

By NANCY SHIPLEY
Associated Press Writer
NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP) — Trumpeter Danny Davis, affable leader of the Nashville Brass, worked only one day of his life outside the music business—as a stock boy in a store. "I ran my fanny off," he laughs, "and decided that was for the birds."

Davis, who is about as country as pheasant under glass, many years and many jobs in the music business later, recalled that one day as easily as if it were yesterday.

The inventor of his group's unique sound—combining horns with a Nashville rhythm section—is a man who took a long time getting ready for what he achieved in a short while.

His eight-year idea of putting horns in country music got to be a joke. "You're nuts," he says recording company officials told him. "Country people hate horns and pops people hate country songs."

"Back in the days when I used to come to Nashville to produce records for artists, I'd go back to New York with what I thought was a dynamic idea," he said. "I went to the president of MGM and I told him, 'Give me $3,000 worth of budget and I'll bring you back an album I guarantee will sell.'"

"I told him I wanted to take country songs, a bluegrass banjo and a legitimate brass section and combine them and call them country brass." The head of the firm—and everybody else—laughed, Davis said.

After leaving MGM, where he was a top flight producer for artists such as Connie Francis, Davis began working with RCA.

"The first thing I did was tell them about my idea ... and they laughed and gave me the same old excuses," he said. "So it lay in the back of my mind all of that time."

After he moved to Nashville in January 1968 as executive assistant to Chet Atkins, head of RCA's Nashville operations, Davis told him about his idea. He recalled the master guitarist telling him, "It's sensational, go do it."

In August of that year, the Nashville Brass was organized. Now four years later, the group has won award after award, recorded hit after hit, played for audiences from state fairs to symphony halls.

"I can't describe the feeling on stage when the whole show is working and you know you've got the complete attention of the audience and that they're with you—that's euphoric."

"It's like a shock wave that comes out from the audience and you feel it," Davis beams while making sweeping gestures with his hands.

"I do exactly the same show no matter who the audience is. We played the New York State Fair in Syracuse and broke all existing records and we did exactly the same show in Birmingham."

Davis believes that the spontaneity of the Nashville Brass sound in person is its key to winning all kinds of audiences.

"It doesn't matter what you do as long as you have that enthusiasm on stage. The Brass sound is a happy one, a fun sounding thing with a whole barrel full of amateur enthusiasm surrounding it."

The vivacious Massachusetts native says he gives the eight members of the group a pep talk before each show.

"I say, 'Look, what the audience gets from us is that we're obviously having a ball on stage enjoying it and you gotta stay in that frame of mind because if you can't project that you're having fun, you're not going to reach those people out there.'"

But being leader of the Brass is not the only hat Davis wears. He's one of the most successful record producers around. He produces a diverse group—ranging from gospel singer George Beverly Shea to country artist Diana Trask to a hard rock singer from Canada.

"I have a reason for that," Davis says, "I feel that a really good producer is one who tries to keep his finger on all segments of music."

"I want to stay in all fields of the music business and I think that has a little bit to do with the fact that the in-person performance of the Brass is so successful."

Davis conceded after a lot of thought that if he had ever gone into any other field, it probably would have been politics or public relations.

2 Boys Arrested For Ransom Calls

SAPPORO, Japan (AP) — Police arrested two 14-year-old boys after tracing their ninth phone call threatening to blow up a jet airliner unless they were paid 10 million yen.

The boys said Sunday they wanted the money—about $32,500—to buy plastic model planes and got the bomb threat idea from television programs, the police reported.

Pilate de Rozier and Jules Romain were killed in the first aviation fatality in June 1975, when a static spark ignited the flammable hydrogen gas.

New Holland Plans Sewage Plant, Alliance With Fayette

The Village of New Holland has petitioned that the Fayette County Board of Commissioners to include a the and within the village limits, and all future annexed land, in the Fayette County Sewer and Water District.

Village council had passed an ordinance making the formal request for inclusion in the utility district and presented it to the Fayette Commissioners at their meeting Monday.

The matter has been held up pending a completion of research by that county's prosecutor, who is checking to determine the legality of accepting that portion of New Holland which lies in Pickaway County.

Commissioners have indicated their willingness to include the small village which rests on the boundary of the two counties.

An engineering study has already been launched by the Southern Indiana Engineering Co. for the preparation of a proposal to construct a sewage treatment facility for the village. The plant is planned to serve approximately 5,000 residents and cost $760,000. It will be built with room for expansion in the future. The village intends to finance the plant construction through a 40-year loan from the Farmers Home Administration at five per cent interest.

One of the people interested in the jointure with the water and sewer district is Ora Burdge, owner of two tracts of and which recently were annexed to the village for the purpose of developing housing subdivisions. He explained that the village's plans were not based on available grant money, for the FHA has none available at this time, but that grant will be applied for if and when money becomes available.

Although planning for the treatment plant is only in preliminary stages, Burdge noted that final planning "is only about a year away."

The construction project is planned to be wholly financed through mortgage revenue, using no tax monies, and all operations of the system will be the responsibility of the village, except possibly for supervision by a county sanitation engineer if one is employed by Fayette County Commissioners. Burdge reported enough people in the area have, at the present time, indicated their willingness to register for taps to go ahead with the project.

LSH Workers Said Victims Of 'Witchhunt'

LIMA, Ohio (AP) — Attorney Joseph Dapore says the Lima State Hospital employees accused of mistreating patients were victims of a "political witchhunt."

But they accepted a deal with the state under which they agreed to plead guilty to reduced charges, he said, because their trials would have been too expensive.

"It was best for all involved to plead guilty to a crime they did not commit, go to work and get their back pay," Dapore told newsmen Tuesday.

Responding to Dapore's remarks, a spokesman in Gov. John Gilligan's office said:

"It's strange for a man to accept a negotiated agreement one day, and blast the agreement the next. If he didn't like the agreement, he never should have agreed to it."

A special state grand jury last year indicted 28 hospital employees and three former employees on charges ranging from aggravated assault to sodomy.

Under the agreement, 26 of the defendants pleaded guilty to simple assault and were reinstated to their jobs. Charges were dropped against the three former employees. Two other employees had been cleared.

Dapore said Gilligan listened to what Dapore called a "bad bill of goods" from Robert Mihalbaugh, a speciate state attorney in the case, in proceeding with the prosecutions even after he realized the state had no case.

Dapore said Mihalbaugh wanted publicity from the Lima State case and was "not sincerely interested in improving conditions at Lima State Hospital."

Gilligan had no comment on the charges.

Soviet-U.S. Space Flight Set In 1975

SPACE CENTER, Houston (AP) — The Soviet Union is budgeting two spacecraft for a Russian-American rendezvous and docking space mission in 1975, officials say.

Glyn S. Luney, the U.S. technical director for the project, said the Soviets will start by launching a Soyuz spacecraft with two men aboard. About 7½ hours later, an American Apollo spacecraft with three men aboard will be launched.

If the Apollo launch is delayed beyond the mission lifetime of the Soyuz spacecraft, the Soviets will have another Soyuz standing by for launch.

Luney said the American spacecraft has a mission lifetime of about 12 days, but the Soviet craft, because of on-board supplies, is limited to about half that time in space.

The announcement was made Monday at the conclusion of two weeks of talks between American space experts and 22 Soviet scientists.

Boris N. Petrov, president of the Council of Intercoms and head of the Soviet delegation, and Christopher C. Kraft, director of the U.S. Manned Spacecraft Center, said the groups completed a basic technical outline for the mission, to be called the Apollo Soyuz Test Project, and design work will start immediately on the hardware.

A spokesman for Boston Garden said the scheduled concert would be held as planned when the group arrived.

Police identified the five arrested men, and the charges against them, as:

—Michael P. Jaeger, 29, of Nello Villa, France, obstruction of a police officer.

—Marshall Chess, 30, of Beverly Hills, Calif., obstruction of a police officer.

—Robert Frank, 47, of Zurich, Switzerland, obstruction of a police officer.

—Stanley A. Moore, 40, of San Francisco, simple assault.

—Keith Richard, 41, of Nello Villa, France, simple assault.

Earlier, Commander William Radican of he Warwick police said two of the rock group "assaulted a photographer at Green Airport and later interfered with a police officer in the line of duty."

Oil Firm Inks Big Pact With Russia

LONDON (AP) — The Occidental Petroleum Co. announced Tuesday that it has signed an agreement with the Soviet government to supply the Russians a wide range of scientific and technical services.

Informants in London estimated the value of the contract as high as $3 billion and said it was the biggest ever signed by a U.S. corporation with the Soviets.

Dr. Armand Hammer, the 72-year-old chairman of Occidental, old a new conference the agreement was signed in Moscow on July 14. He said it covers a five-year period and is renewable by mutual consent.

Hammer, who first did business with the Soviets shortly after the Bolshevik Revolution, said the contract covers five areas:

1. The exploration, production and usage of oil and natural gas in the Soviet Union.

2. Production of agricultural fertilizers and chemicals.

3. Metal treatment and metal plating.

4. The design and building of hotels in the Soviet Union.

5. The use of solid waste materials.

"The agreement is not restricted to the five areas mentioned," Hammer said, "but permits development in other areas at any time by mutual accord."

The agreement also provides for compensations for the transfer of scientific and technological know-how the sale of patents and the sale of licenses, Hammer continued.

Hammer pointed out that his company's deal with the Soviet government was one of the first developments to follow in the wake of President Nixon's agreement during his Moscow visit two months ago for U.S.-Soviet cooperation in the fields of science and technology.

"In 51 years of dealing with the Soviet government," said Hammer, "I have never found the grounds more favorable for the rapid expansion of East-West trade than exists at present."

Occidental's chairman gave no indication of his financial arrangements with the Soviets, but some experts speculated that payment would be in crude oil and gas from the Siberian fields.

Rumors of the agreement circulated in Europe on Monday, and soon after they reached New York trading in Occidental's stock was halted on the New York and West Coast stock exchanges.

Trading resumed on the West Coast after the New York market closed. In 2½ hours the stock jumped 19 per cent, from 123½ to 151½ on a volume of 116,300 shares.

London's Financial Times reported before Hammer's announcement that Occidental was expected to head a consortium of U.S. oil and gas companies that would assist in the development of the Tyumen fields in Western Siberia.

There was speculation in London that this consortium would help build a 4,000-mile pipeline from the Siberian field to a coastal terminal.

Dr. Hammer refused to be pinned down on the areas to be developed, saying "our geologists will make a study of all the potential areas in the Soviet Union."

He promised, however, that his company would keep the public informed from time to time on what he called the biggest East-West deal so far.

Ferguson said monthly distributions throughout the remainder of the year would be about the same as the July distribution, except for a final-month adjustment payment.

Distribution to the state's larger counties for July was as follows:

Cuyahoga, $807,256; Hamilton, $356,443; Franklin, $291,994; Montgomery, $215,035; Summit, $199,469; Lucas, $198,679; Lorain, $99,851; Stark, $97,359; and Mahoning, $87,696.

For the larger cities it was: Cleveland, $45,355; Cincinnati, $31,348; Columbus, $29,700; Toledo, $25,50; Dayton, $18,070; Akron, $17,076; Youngstown, $9,434 and Canton, $8,944.

State Funds Distributed For July

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Local government funds totaling nearly $4 million have been distributed for July to all 88 counties and 296 municipalities.

Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson said counties received $3,666,666 while $333,333 was divided among municipalities. Counties must divide their share among townships and villages.

BancOhio To Purchase Cleveland Capital National

An agreement to sell Capital National Bank of Cleveland to BancOhio Corporation of Columbus has been reached between the owners of the bank and Ohio's largest multi-bank holding company.

The announcement was made jointly in Columbus and Cleveland by Philip F. Searle, president of BancOhio Corporation and Carl Glickman, chairman of Shelter Resources Corporation, the parent company of Capital National Bank.

The terms of the agreement, which are subject to the approval of the Federal Reserve Board of Governors, call for a cash sale of approximately $8.5 million. If approved, the sale and affiliation will become effective early in 1973.

On June 30, 1972, Capital National Bank reported total resources of $121,345,650, an increase of five per cent over the same date in 1971. Total loans at June 30, 1972 reached $66,024,960, an increase of nine per cent over June 30, 1971, while the bank realized an increase of $4 million in total deposits over the same deposit figure reported at the end of June, 1971.

In June of this year, Capital

National Bank opened its 11th branch banking office in Parma Heights. Nine of these 11 offices, which are located in all the major suburban areas surrounding the city of Cleveland, were opened within the past eight years. A new office in Lyndhurst and another, Garfield Heights Office have been planned for construction.

Philip F. Searle, president of BancOhio noted that all directors of the bank, Frank Fisher, president and chief executive officer, Joseph E. Cole, chairman, and Glickman, executive committee chairman, have been asked to remain with the bank in their same capacities upon completion of the acquisition. "No changes in other officers or employees are contemplated," Sealle said.

Searle stated that the proposed affiliation of Capital National Bank would mark the first time BancOhio Corporation has been represented in the Cleveland-Cuyahoga County market, the sixth largest of the industrial value-added billion-dollar markets in the United States.

The Second National Bank at Circleville is affiliated with BancOhio.

Oil Firm Inks Big Pact With Russia

LONDON (AP) — The Occidental Petroleum Co. announced Tuesday that it has signed an agreement with the Soviet government to supply the Russians a wide range of scientific and technical services.

Informants in London estimated the value of the contract as high as $3 billion and said it was the biggest ever signed by a U.S. corporation with the Soviets.

Dr. Armand Hammer, the 72-year-old chairman of Occidental, old a new conference the agreement was signed in Moscow on July 14. He said it covers a five-year period and is renewable by mutual consent.

Hammer, who first did business with the Soviets shortly after the Bolshevik Revolution, said the contract covers five areas:

1. The exploration, production and usage of oil and natural gas in the Soviet Union.

2. Production of agricultural fertilizers and chemicals.

3. Metal treatment and metal plating.

4. The design and building of hotels in the Soviet Union.

5. The use of solid waste materials.

"The agreement is not restricted to the five areas mentioned," Hammer said, "but permits development in other areas at any time by mutual accord."

The agreement also provides for compensations for the transfer of scientific and technological know-how the sale of patents and the sale of licenses, Hammer continued.

Hammer pointed out that his company's deal with the Soviet government was one of the first developments to follow in the wake of President Nixon's agreement during his Moscow visit two months ago for U.S.-Soviet cooperation in the fields of science and technology.

"In 51 years of dealing with the Soviet government," said Hammer, "I have never found the grounds more favorable for the rapid expansion of East-West trade than exists at present."

Occidental's chairman gave no indication of his financial arrangements with the Soviets, but some experts speculated that payment would be in crude oil and gas from the Siberian fields.

Rumors of the agreement circulated in Europe on Monday, and soon after they reached New York trading in Occidental's stock was halted on the New York and West Coast stock exchanges.

Trading resumed on the West Coast after the New York market closed. In 2½ hours the stock jumped 19 per cent, from 12¼ to 15¼ on a volume of 116,300 shares.

London's Financial Times reported before Hammer's announcement that Occidental was expected to head a consortium of U.S. oil and gas companies that would assist in the development of the Tyumen fields in Western Siberia.

There was speculation in London that this consortium would help build a 4,000-mile pipeline from the Siberian field to a coastal terminal.

Dr. Hammer refused to be pinned down on the areas to be developed, saying "our geologists will make a study of all the potential areas in the Soviet Union."

He promised, however, that his company would keep the public informed from time to time on what he called the biggest East-West deal so far.

Arlin's No-Hitter Fails; Padres Still Win

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer

Steve Arlin, the San Diego pitcher who is a dentist in the off-season, was offered a non-denial instrument by Manager Don Zimmer, who thought he had cost his right-handed star a no-hitter.

"Here," said Zimmer, handing Arlin a razor blade and pointing to his own throat, "make it quick."

Arlin pitched 8 2-3 innings of no-hit baseball Tuesday night before giving up two hits in the ninth inning. The Padres beat

Philadelphia 5-1 but the loss of the no-hitter was a letdown for the 26-year-old pitcher, his manager and teammates.

Phillies' infielder Denny Doyle struck a single over the head of third baseman Dave Roberts to break Arlin's bid. The pitcher was unnerved and balked, then gave up another hit to Tom Hutton, which scored a run.

"I messed it up," said Zimmer. "I had Roberts playing in. If he plays back, he fields the ball. I messed it up."

In other National League

games, San Francisco blanked Montreal 3-0, Houston thumped St. Louis 11-2, Atlanta beat Pittsburgh 4-2, Chicago edged Cincinnati 2-1 and Los Angeles trimmed New York 2-1.

Arlin got plenty of offensive help from Nate Colbert, who drove in three runs with a double and his 21st homer of the season. He also got an outstanding defensive play from second baseman Derrel Thomas, who stopped Doyle's grounder in the hole in the sixth and threw to first while sitting on the ground.

San Francisco left-hander Ron Bryant's four-hit pitching gave him his fifth straight victory and brought his record to 8-4. He struck out four Montreal players and walked two. Rookie Garry Maddox backed Bryant with a two-run homer, his seventh of the season. The Giants' final run came when, with a man on third, Expo starter and loser Balor Moore, 1-4, balked.

Cesar Cedeno and Lee May each drove home two runs with homers and Jim Wynn added a pair with a double for Houston. Ted Simmons' three-run double had given St. Louis a 3-2 lead before Cedeno laced his inside-the-park circuit. Two infield errors and a passed ball helped the Astros rally for four runs in the eighth.

Atlanta used a Ralph Garr

double, an error and an infield out to come from behind Pittsburgh. The Braves increased their margin to 4-1 in the seventh on Earl Williams' 14th homer and the Pirates added a run on two singles and a sacrifice fly by Al Oliver.

Billy Williams stroked his 21st homer to give the Chicago

Cubs the winning run in their 10-inning battle with Cincinnati. Ferguson Jenkins gave up Tony Perez' 15th homer and was in trouble often but managed to record his 12th victory. Ron Santo drove home the Cubs' first run in the sixth with a sacrifice fly.

Frank Robinson ended a 10-

inning battle in Los Angeles with his 11th homer. The All-Star outfielder's blast came with two outs and landed in the left-field bullpen. New York scored an unearned run in the first and the Dodgers came back in the fourth with an unearned run of their own to send the game into a deadlock.

Paul Robinson Goes After Starting Slot With Bengals

WILMINGTON, Ohio (AP)—The rookie of the year award is a dim memory for Paul Robinson, a third-string Cincinnati Bengal running back who longs for the work and the limelight to the starting unit.

Arnie Palmer Is Favored At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — It will be Arnold Palmer vs. the Young Lions when the new look, $150,000 American Golf Classic gets underway Thursday on the vast and sprawling Firestone Country Club course.

With the exception of the 42-year-old Palmer, most of the game's great stars are taking time off to recuperate from the pressure-cooker finish of last week's British Open.

Among the missing, most of whom still are in Europe, are Lee Trevino, the Super Mex who won a second consecutive British Open title; Jack Nicklaus, the man he beat by a single stroke; England's Tony Jacklin, the third-place finisher; fourth-place Doug Sanders; Gary Player of South Africa and veteran Billy Casper.

Their absences put Palmer, a non-winner this season but often a threat, in a dominant position on the 7,180-yard, par 70 Firestone layout, a course that Trevino says is just too long for him but one that Palmer plays exceptionally well.

He's a two-time champion here and has finished 10th or better nine of the 11 times he's played.

He heads a field that is made up of 144 players for the first time. Previously this had been an invitational event with the field restricted to about 100 players, often fewer. This year it has gone to an open classification—local newspapers have criticized the move as making it "just another tournament" and a full field made eligible.

Babe Ruth Baseball Championships Set

BECKLEY, W. Va. (AP) — Babe Ruth baseball champions from seven states will vie here Aug. 5-10 for the Ohi O'Valley Regional title.

The Beckley team will host the double-elimination tournament that will feature champions from West Virginia, Ohio, Kentucky, Indiana, Wisconsin, Michigan and Illinois.

"I was depressed last year sitting on the bench," says Robinson, the 1968 rookie-of-the-year in the old American Football League. "It wouldn't have been so bad if we'd been winning, but we were losing. That was when I got kind of teed off."

Robinson was a sensation in 1968. A darting runner fresh from the University of Arizona, he lugged the ball 238 times for 1,023 yards and eight touchdowns, with one run of 87 yards.

As the expansion Bengals matured, however, they relied less on Robinson. Last season, with Fred Willis, Jess Phillips and Doug Dressler sharing starting backfield duties, Robinson carries only 49 times for 213 yards. His 4.3-yard-per carry was the same average he managed in 1968.

Now Robinson, only the fourth pro to gain 1,000 yards or more in his rookie season, finds breakaway threat Essex Johnson also running ahead of him in the Bengals' depth chart.

Despite the slowed pace of the number of his performances, Robinson has not despaired. "The only thing I have to do now," he says, relaxing in his Wilmington College dormitory room during the Bengals' training camp, "is be cool."

"Willis and Dressler have both been third-string runners," he says, "but now they're number one. They have more pressure on them to keep their jobs than I do to win one."

"I just have to have patience."

Robinson has trimmed his weight to 195 from a playing high of about 203, and has worked hard since last season on pass receiving, an area many consider his weakest.

"I have to concentrate on catching the ball," he says, noting he wears contact lenses during games. "Used to be they just threw little flare passes to the backs, now the backs run patterns like the receivers do."

Robinson says he won't ask to be traded. "I'm going to be cool on that," he says.

Duane Thomas At Cowboys Camp; Says He's Happy

THOUSAND OAKS, Calif. (AP) — A composed Duane Thomas, hinting at a new relationship with both pro football and the press, has made his peace—with the Dallas Cowboys. The talented but unpredictable running back made his second appearance of the year at the Cowboys' training camp here Tuesday night.

After talking in private for nearly three hours, Thomas and Coach Tom Landry emerged to tell reporters that the player would take his physical exam and begin workouts today.

Thomas, smiling and apparently relaxed during a brief news conference, didn't say why he walked out of camp last Wednesday night, referring only to "personal reasons."

Asked if he was happy with the Cowboys, he answered, "If I wasn't here, I wouldn't have come here."

Reminded of his statements last year criticizing Landry and the team's front office, Thomas said, "You're talking about the past. Wait a few more weeks and I'll give you something else to go on." He also said he would end his much-publicized silence and talk about football to reporters this year "if I have time."

Elsewhere, Los Angeles Rams quarterback Roman Gabriel was reported making satisfactory recovery from the lung collapse he suffered Monday.

Dr. Jules Rasinski of the Rams said the tube inserted to inflate the lung would be removed Thursday and that Gabriel could return to full action three weeks after that.

Another player, wide receiver Billy Parks of the San Diego Chargers, has chosen somewhat less orthodox means of treatment for his injury. Parks has been receiving Chinese acupuncture treatments on his ailing hamstring muscle.

Parks, 24, reported to the Chargers training camp Sunday but left after one hour, saying "I don't want to be just standing around while the other guys are working their butts off."

Chargers Coach Harland Oware responded by levying a $150-a-day fine, but Parks said he planned to stay away from camp the rest of the week, which would bring the fine to $1,050.

A number of other prominent players remain out of camp.

New York Jets wide receiver Don Maynard, who has gained more pass-catching yardage than any other player in history, has still not reported to the Jets camp, and has not received permission to report late.

Brinkman Goes Out For Browns

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Charles "Cookie" Brinkman thinks he'll earn a spot on the Cleveland Browns roster, partly because he's lost pounds and "gained weight."

"I'm down 18 pounds to about 195," Brinkman said of his personal riddle. "I'm down 39 pounds on my weight lifting."

Brinkman, a native Cincinnati who played at Roger Bacon High School and the University of Louisville, came to the Browns as a free agent last year after being cut by the Cincinnati Bengals.

"I can't wait until we get a chance to play the Bengals," said Brinkman. "I'm looking forward to playing at Columbus."

His reference to the Sept. 3 meeting of the intrastate rivals at Ohio State University was not made with animosity toward the Bengals. In fact, he had nothing but praise for Bengals coach Paul Brown.

"For me, it was a break to come up here," said Brinkman, who was tried at tight end at Cincinnati and was judged too small.

The Bengals released him quickly. "Paul Brown said it was a chance for me to play," Brinkman explained.

Brown could have kept him until a late cut and thereby have ruined his chances with another team, Brinkman said, but instead the coach told him Cleveland was looking for a receiver.

DUBLIN, Ireland (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, keeping his normal pre-fight blarney under wraps, says he expects tonight's heavyweight bout against Al "Blue" Lewis to be a tough one.

Ali was still trying to shake off a heavy cold which forced him to cut short his final preparation.

Williams, Jenkins Stop Cincy Reds, Cubs Win 2-1

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer
CHICAGO (AP) — Billy Williams and Fergy Jenkins of the Chicago Cubs, a couple of great fishermen, know how to set the hook in the Cincinnati Reds.

Williams' leadoff homer in the 10th inning Tuesday hauled in a 2-1 victory as Jenkins, 12-8, quelled Cincinnati on four hits and snapped a seven-game winning streak for the surging leaders of the National League West race.

Long after Red starter Gary Nolan had to quit with a stiff shoulder muscle with his slick 13-2 record still intact, Williams broke on the game with his No. 21 homer on an 0-1 pitch off the No. 3 Red pitcher, Clay Carroll.

"We're ready, Billy and myself, to go bass fishing during the All-Star break, if either of us don't get named to be NL squad," said Jenkins.

"I'm not concerned whether I'm named an All-Star pitcher," said Jenkins, in quest of his sixth successive 20-win season. "I can get in three days of good bass fishing near my Chatham (Ont.) home. Billy and I really kill those bass."

Williams stroked his game-winning homer on the second pitch by Carroll, who came in to start the 10th replacing Pedro Borbon, Nolan's successor in the seventh.

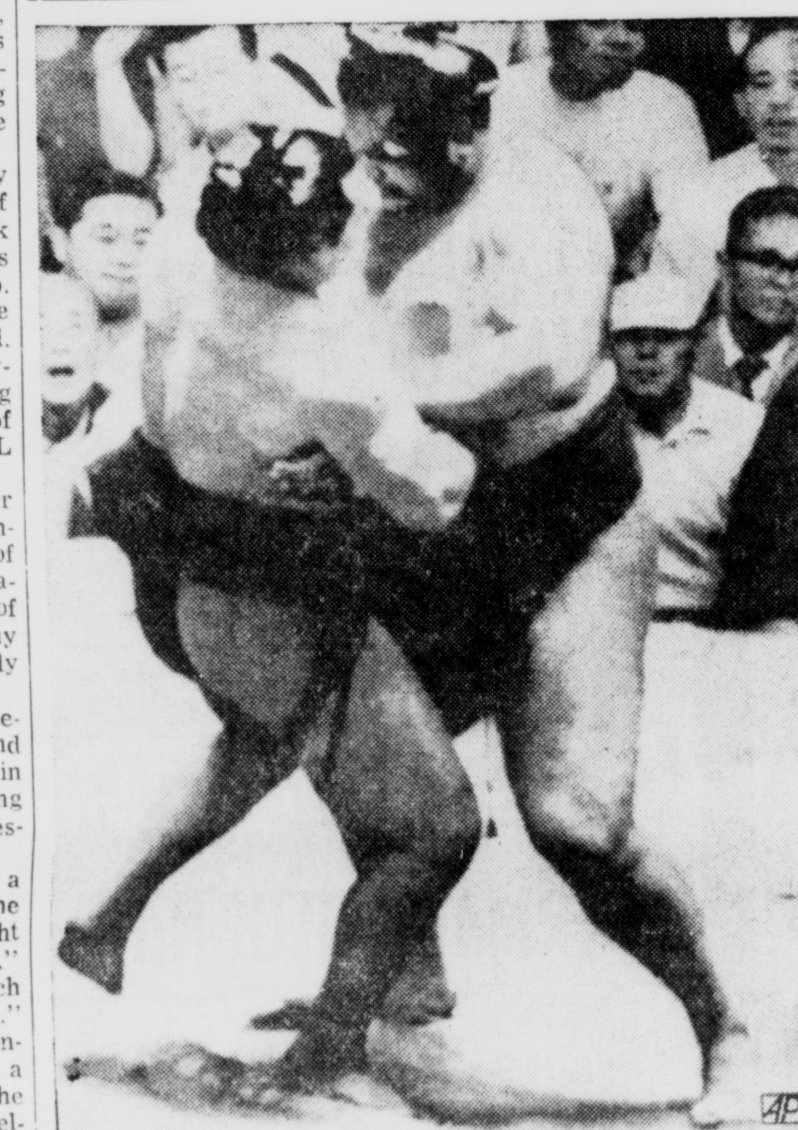

Carroll's first pitch was a called fast ball strike. "Then he came in with a high curve right over the plate and I belted it," said Williams. "It was a pitch you hope for, but don't expect."

Said Cincinnati catcher Johnny Bench: "The pitch was a little up, but give Williams the credit. The man is just a helluva hitter."

Cub Manager Leo Durocher scratched his head when asked if Williams hits harder than anybody in baseball.

"I'll just say he hits the ball harder than any guy I know who is built like he is—slender and swift."

Nolan, whose ERA still tops the NL at a brilliant 1.81, said his ailment was "like a cramp. It's a pain in the neck."

9 Pitchers Are Chosen

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Manager Danny Murtaugh of the National League All-Star team has named nine pitchers to next Tuesday's game, including Steve Blass, who pitched Murtaugh's Pittsburgh Pirates to victory in the seventh game of last year's World Series.

Besides Blass, who has a 10-3 record this year, Murtaugh named league percentage leader Gary Nolan of Cincinnati and major league strikeout leader Steve Carlton of Philadelphia among seven right-handers and two left-handers on the staff for the game in Atlanta.

One pitcher who didn't get named was Ferguson Jenkins of Chicago, last year's Cy Young Award winner and a 12-game winner this year.

The other six pitchers on the team are right-handers Tom Seaver of New York, Bill Stoneman of Montreal, Don Sutton of Los Angeles, Clay Carroll of Cincinnati and Bob Gibson of St. Louis and left-hander Tug McGraw of New York.

Murtaugh, who retired because of health problems after last season, picked only three pitchers with previous All-Star experience—Carlton, Seaver and Gibson.

Gibson, who has won his last 10 decisions this season, has pitched in five All-Star games with no won-lost record. He's given up 10 hits and four runs in nine innings.

Milwaukee bunched three runs in the first inning and three more in the sixth to make Lomborg's job easy.

Detroit remained one game in front of Baltimore in the AL East as both clubs won. The Tigers went 11 innings to beat Chicago for their ninth victory in the last 10 games while Baltimore went 15 to nip Texas for the Orioles' sixth straight triumph.

Joe Coleman held Chicago to one hit for six innings while the White Sox broke that up on Dick Allen's leadoff triple in the seventh, a ball misjudged by center fielder Mickey Stanley.

The Sox knocked Coleman out in the eighth, tying the score at 3-3 and it stayed that way until the 11th. Then Stanley tripled with one out and came home on Ed Brinkman's sacrifice fly for the deciding run.

Arlin's No-Hitter Fails; Padres Still Win

By TOM EMORY
Associated Press Sports Writer
Steve Arlin, the San Diego pitcher who is a dentist in the offseason, was offered a non-denial instrument by Manager Don Zimmer, who thought he had cost his right-handed star a no-hitter.

"Here," said Zimmer, handing Arlin a razor blade and pointing to his own throat. "make it quick."

Arlin pitched 8 2-3 innings of no-hit baseball Tuesday night before giving up two hits in the ninth inning. The Padres beat

Philadelphia 5-1 but the loss of the no-hitter was a letdown for the 26-year-old pitcher, his manager and teammates.

Phillies' infielder Denny Doyle stroked a single over the head of third baseman Dave Roberts to break up Arlin's bid. The pitcher was unnerved and balked, then gave up another hit to Tom Hutton, which scored a run.

"I messed it up," said Zimmer. "I had Roberts playing in. If he plays back, he fields the ball. I messed it up."

In other National League

games, San Francisco blanked Montreal 3-0, Houston thumped St. Louis 11-2, Atlanta beat Pittsburgh 4-2, Chicago edged Cincinnati 2-1 and Los Angeles trimmed New York 2-1.

Arlin got plenty of offensive help from Nate Colbert, who drove in three runs with a double and his 21st homer of the season. He also got an outstanding defensive play from second baseman Derrel Thomas, who stopped Doyle's grounder in the hole in the sixth and threw to first while sitting on the ground.

San Francisco left-hander Ron Bryant's four-hit pitching gave him his fifth straight victory and brought his record to 8-4. He struck out four Montreal players and walked just two. Rookie Garry Maddox backed Bryant with a two-run homer, his seventh of the season. The Giants' final run came when, with a man on third, Expo starter and loser Balor Moore, 1-4, balked.

Cesar Cedeño and Lee May each drove home two runs with homers and Jim Wynn added a pair with a double for Houston. Ted Simmons' three-run double had given St. Louis a 3-2 lead before Cedeño laced his inside-the-park circuit. Two infield errors and a passed ball helped the Astros rally for four runs in the eighth.

Atlanta used a Ralph Garr

double, an error and an infield out to come from behind Pittsburgh. The Braves increased their margin to 4-1 in the seventh on Earl Williams' 14th homer and the Pirates added a run on two singles and a sacrifice fly by Al Oliver.

Billy Williams stroked his 21st homer to give the Chicago

Cubs the winning run in their 10-inning battle with Cincinnati. Ferguson Jenkins gave up Tony Perez' 15th homer and was in trouble often but managed to record his 12th victory. Ron Santo drove home the Cubs' first run in the sixth with a sacrifice fly.

Frank Robinson ended a 10-

inning battle in Los Angeles with his 11th homer. The All-Star outfielder's blast came with two outs and landed in the left-field bullpen. New York scored an unearned run in the first and the Dodgers came back in the fourth with an unearned run of their own to send the game into a deadlock.

Arnie Palmer Is Favored At Akron

AKRON, Ohio (AP) — It will be Arnold Palmer vs. the Young Lions when the new-look, $150,000 American Golf Classic gets underway Thursday on the vast and sprawling Firestone Country Club course.

With the exception of the 42-year-old Palmer, most of the game's great stars are taking time off to recuperate from the pressure-cooker finish of last week's British Open.

Among the missing, most of whom still are in Europe, are Lee Trevino, the Super Mex who won a second consecutive British Open title; Jack Nicklaus, the man he beat by a single stroke; England's Tony Jacklin, the third-place finisher; fourth-place Doug Sanders; Gary Player of South Africa and veteran Billy Casper.

Their absences put Palmer, a non-winner this season but often a threat, in a dominant position on the 7,180-yard, par 70 Firestone layout, a course that Trevino says is just too long for him but one that Palmer plays exceptionally well.

He's a two-time champion here and has finished 10th or better nine of the 11 times he's played.

He heads a field that is made up of 144 players for the first time. Previously this had been an invitational event with the field restricted to about 100 players, often fewer. This year it has gone to an open classification—local newspapers have criticized the move as making it "just another tournament" and a full field made eligible.

Now, about he American League's starting outfield in next Tuesday's All Star baseball game. The names are Carl Yastrzemski, Bobby Murcer and Reggie Jackson—three pretty good ones.

Now, about the top three batters in the American League today. The names are outfielders Richie Scheinblum, Lou Piniella and Amos Otis—and Kansas City thinks they're three pretty good ones too.

Cleveland will agree today after absorbing a 6-5, 11-8 doubleheader sweep from the Royals Tuesday night with the three KC outfielders playing key offensive roles.

Piniella led the attack with six hits in the doubleheader including a homer. He drove in five runs and scored two. Otis scored twice in each game and Scheinblum drove in one run in the opener and scored two in the nightcap.

Elsewhere in the American League Tuesday night, New York blanked Minnesota 6-0, Boston trimmed California 4-1, Baltimore nipped Texas 2-1 in 15 innings, Detroit edged Chicago 4-3 in 11 innings and Oakland split a doubleheader with Milwaukee, winning the first game 4-0 but losing the second 7-4.

Scheinblum still leads the AL hitters with a .328 average but Piniella's big night left him just three percentage points behind at .325. Otis is No. 3 with .311.

Kansas City collected 25 hits in the doubleheader, running through five Cleveland pitchers in the first game and four in the nightcap.

Piniella's second double of the opener scored Kansas City's winning run in the eighth inning of the first game. Scheinblum opened the eighth with a walk and John Mayberry singled pinch runner Steve Hovley to third before Piniella delivered his hit.

In the second game, Piniella completed his six-hit night with a single and homer as the Royals finished the sweep.

The Yankees busted out of a four-game losing streak with three homers powering Steve Kline's six-hit victory over Minnesota.

Thurman Munson had a two-run shot and Ron Blomberg connected with two on in the third inning giving Kline, 9-4 a comfortable five-run lead. Murcer hit his 11th of the year in the eighth for New York.

Sony Siebert won his first game in a month, pitching Boston past California and Nolan Ryan with a four-hitter. Siebert had not won since June 19.

Boston bunched three runs in the second inning with hits by Rico Petrocelli, Danny Cater and Tommy Harper keying the rally. That was enough for Siebert, 8-5, to best Ryan, 11-7.

Catfish Hunter's five-hitter gave Oakland its first-game victory over Milwaukee. Reggie Jackson drove in two runs for the A's with his 18th homer and a double.

But the Brewers salvaged the split as Jim Lonborg survived a pair of homers by Mike Epstein to record his eighth victory of the season with last-out help from Frank Linzy.

Milwaukee bunched three runs in the first inning and three more in the sixth to make Lonborg's job easy.

Detroit remained one game in front of Baltimore in the AL East as both clubs won. The Tigers went 11 innings to beat Chicago for their ninth victory in the last 10 games while Baltimore went 15 to nip Texas for the Orioles' sixth straight triumph.

Joe Coleman held Chicago without a hit for six innings the White Sox broke that up on Dick Allen's leadoff triple in the seventh, a ball misjudged by center fielder Mickey Stanley.

The Sox knocked Coleman out in the eighth, tying the score at 3-3 and it stayed that way until the 11th. Then Stanley tripled with one out and came home on Ed Brinkman's sacrifice fly for the deciding run.

Brooks Robinson was the Orioles' hero in Texas, delivering a single to deliver Bobby Grich with Baltimore's winning run in the 15th inning against the Rangers. Grich had doubled.

Brundage Determined To Keep Olympics Amateur

By WILL GRIMSLEY
AP Special Correspondent
SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — "Nobody has a right to get into the Olympics," Avery Brundage said, leaning back in his red leather swivel chair and letting his eyes gaze out over the Pacific. "It's not a right—it's a privilege."

"The Olympics are not just a competition to see who can run the fastest or throw the farthest. They're not a world championship. They're unique. They're an idea. They can't be changed by anybody."

At 84, scarred by a thousand battles and preparing after 20 years to step out as president of the International Olympic Committee, the crusty Chicago millionaire is still unbending in his defense of the purity of sports and the sacredness of the unsoiled amateur.

"There are two kinds of competitors," he added, "those who are interested in sports for sports' sake and the ones interested for financial reasons. Why should the pros want a medal? Let them hold their own world championship if they wish. The Olympics will always remain amateur."

Years of vilification have stiffened rather than softened this crochety, controversial Colossus of Olympic idealism. Painted as a tyrant, an unrealistic old man still living in the Middle Ages, he has been pilloried in a dozen languages.

"My legacy is a clear conscience and a thick skin," Brundage said in a recent interview.

He was sitting in a sparsely furnished first-floor office of the Montecito Country Club, one of the few properties he has retained.

Brundage lives alone in a newly-constructed penthouse atop the club. His wife, Elizabeth, died a year ago. They had no children. The penthouse is barren, not fully decorated, with Avery's papers and Olympic effects strewn all over the place.

The shelves of a huge cabinet, which once strained under the weight of priceless jade and other Oriental art treasures, were empty.

Over the years, Brundage amassed one of the world's biggest collections of Chinese art. He gave the entire collection—valued at between $30 million and $40 million—to San Francisco, which placed it in a special museum at Golden State Park.

About six times a year the bustling, globe-girdling Olympic boss sneaks away to this quiet, pleasant resort—once the playground of millionaires—to get his breath and stoke up for new wars to fight.

His U.S. headquarters is atop Chicago's LaSalle Hotel, which he recently sold for $10 million. There he maintains two shifts of secretaries, one reporting at 9 p.m., to handle his voluminous correspondence.

He also has an office in Lausanne, Switzerland, the IOC base, but much of his work is done in the first-class lounge of trans-continental 747s. He is constantly on the move, averaging three trips around the world a year.

"I can only sleep three hours at a time," Brundage said. "Some of my best work is done in the middle of the night. I usually go to bed at around 1 a.m. and I'm up at 7."

For a man 20 years beyond the normal retirement age, Brundage is a remarkable figure. Straight as a poker, he walks with a brisk step. He seems to have an inexhaustible source of energy and vitality. He expressed his viewpoints in strong, ringing tones.

A six-footer, balding, with horn-rimmed glasses perched on a bulbous nose, he has a thick, 17-inch neck, powerful shoulders and hands that reflect the days when he pushed a wheelbarrow and mixed concrete.

He has retained the athletic build of younger days when he was America's best all-around athlete and a frustrated nonmedalist in the decathlon and pentathlon events in the 1912 Olympics at Stockholm.

"The all-around was a category at the time," he explained. "It was 10 events in one day with a five-minute rest in between. Sometimes you were on the field as long as seven hours."

"It was tough, requiring endurance. I wasn't exceptional in any particular sport but was fair in all of them and I had endurance. I worked 10 hours a day on my job and trained at night on my Saturdays and Sundays."

"I thought I was going to break every record at once. 'The coach told me I was working too hard. He was right. When I got to the Olympics, I was late.'"

Brundage, born in Detroit, moved to Chicago at the age of six after his mother and father had separated. He was reared by aunts and uncles. He studied engineering at the University of Illinois, and upon graduation, became a construction superintendent, building skyscrapers before starting a business of his own.

His fortune escalated, he prospered in real estate, hotel ownership and investments, lost almost everything in the 1929 stock market crash but rebuilt during the depression by buying stock in depressed companies at a few cents on the dollar.

He succeeded Gen. Douglas

MacArthur as president of the U. S. Olympic Committee in 1928 and in 1952 became head of the IOC. Throughout, he has remained a staunch defender of the ideals of Baron de Coubertin, who established the Modern Olympics in 1896.

"The Olympics are important everywhere except the United States," he said gloomily. "Over here, everything is commercial, we are interested only in professional sports. We are becoming a nation of spectators."

Brundage said colleges are little more than incubators for the pros, producing halfbacks, pitchers and basket-stuffers. "It's hypocritical and dishonest."

Dressed in a dark suit, white shirt and narrow tie, Brundage continued the discussion as he moved from his office to the dining room where he ordered melon, a fish dish and a bottle of white wine. He turned his coffee cup upside down.

He disdains hard liquor, doesn't smoke or drink. He prides himself on his knowledge of wines.

Asked what he regarded as the highlight of his 20-year tenure as IOC president, Brundage quickly responded: "The growth—the massive growth of the movement. We have grown in importance and magnitude. We are almost too big."

He said he would like to see the elimination of the Winter Games and of certain team sports such as soccer, basketball and ice hockey.

"De Coubertin was opposed to Winter Games because he thought they should be only one Olympics," Brundage said. "I agree with him."

Besides, he added, Alpine skiing has become so commercial that it now is a contest of manufacturers instead of sportsmen.

Brundage insisted that such team sports as football, basketball and ice hockey are so heavily pro-indoctrinated that they have become businesses instead of sports and "cause us a lot of trouble."

Brundage bristled when asked about the move in some quarters to dilute the authority of the IOC and democratize the Games, giving athletes a voice in the conduct of the movement.

"Who else would take the time or spend the money?" he demanded the construction tycoon, who reportedly spends $50,000 a year of his personal money in Olympic work. "This is an idealistic enterprise."

"It was conceived by de Coubertin and the movement was willed to the committee. It's not like the United Nations. We are not delegates. We are ambassadors. I don't represent the United States. I represent the movement."

"Maybe we are self-perpetuating, as they say. Maybe we're autocratic. That's the way it is. That's the way it has to be."

Brundage Determined To Keep Olympics Amateur

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AP Special Correspondent

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — "Nobody has a right to get into the Olympics," Avery Brundage said, leaning back in his red leather swivel chair and letting his eyes gaze out over the Pacific. "It's not a right—it's a privilege."

"The Olympics are not just a competition to see who can run the fastest or throw the farthest. They're not a world championship. They're unique. They're an idea. They can't be changed by anybody."

At 84, scarred by a thousand battles and preparing after 20 years to step out as president of the International Olympic Committee, the crusty Chicago millionaire is still unbendable in his defense of the purity of sports and the sacredness of the unsoiled amateur.

"There are two kinds of competitors," he added, "those who are interested in sports for sports' sake and the ones interested for financial reasons. Why should the pros want a medal? Let them hold their own world championship if they wish. The Olympics will always remain amateur."

Years of vilification have stiffened rather than softened this crochety, controversial Colossus of Olympic idealism. Painted as a tyrant, an unrealistic old man still living in the Middle Ages, he has been pilloried in a dozen languages.

"My legacy is a clear conscience and a thick skin," Brundage said in a recent interview.

Amish Couple Loses Bid To Keep Foster Children

CHARDON, Ohio (AP)—Geauga County Judge Robert Ford Tuesday denied a bid by an Amish couple to adopt three children they have reared since infancy.

Ford, in a statement read by a bailiff, said he denied the adoption petition of Noah Detweiler, 42, and his wife, Fanny, 44, of Parkman Township because the county welfare department "refused to file its consent as required by statute."

County welfare officials declined comment. However, W. H. Chapman, county welfare director, has said previously the decision to place the three children aged 2 to 5 with other adoptive parents was based largely on a confidential home study of the Detweilers by a social worker.

The three children—Vicky, 5, David, 3, and Theresa Lynn, 2—have been living with another family since June 13.

"We've lost the children," said Detweiler after he returned home on his two-story farmhouse on U.S. 422. "We didn't have a hearing." Detweiler said it had been his understanding that a hearing had to be held on the matter.

"Why didn't they tell us this long ago," Mrs. Detweiler said. "It would have saved us all this trouble."

"One of the things I'm upset about is the way the children left. Had we known they were leaving permanently (June 13), we could have sent their toys and clothing. I have a whole room full of their toys upstairs," she said.

The couple's attorney, Peter Harwood, said he did not foresee an additional appeal.

"Really, I think the case is at a dead end," Harwood said. "In essence, the judge has dismissed the case."

The dispute over the children began last December when they discussed adoption of the children with the department and were turned down verbally.

The Detweilers had baby-sat for the children when they were babies and took the children under their roof when their parents, while acting foster parents, did not have legal custody of the children. The welfare department did.

Woman Strangled In Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP) — Cleveland police are investigating the apparent strangling of Cecilia Harding, 22, an assistant in the political science department at Case Western Reserve University.

Miss Harding, a 1968 graduate of East Cleveland Shaw High School and a 1972 graduate of Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, N.Y., was found lying face down on a pillow next to her bed in her third floor apartment at the College Row apartments on the CWRU campus.

The slaying was discovered by Miss Harding's sister, Fargo, 23. The two shared the apartment. Fargo Harding works as a nurse at University Hospitals.

Cincinnati Youth Drowning Victim

CINCINNATI (AP) — A 16-year-old Cincinnati youth, Darrell Smith, drowned Tuesday night after going swimming in a fishing lake in an outlying county area.

Police said that Smith and about 20 other persons had been swimming at Duncan's Fishing Lake although a no swimming sign was reported to have been posted.

The victim's body was recovered.

Mainly About People

Mrs. George Finley, Adelphi, is a medical patient in Chillicothe Hospital, Chillicothe, room 117.

George Kearns, 631 Clinton St., has been released to his home from Riverside Hospital, Columbus, where he received treatment following a coronary heart attack.

John Steinhauer, Williamsport, has been moved from the cardiac care unit of Mt. Carmel Hospital, Columbus to room 510.

Connally To Rejoin Houston Law Firm

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP) — Former Treasury Secretary John B. Connally is rejoining the law firm he left to become a member of President Nixon's Cabinet.

Frank Smith, a partner in the firm, said Monday that the firm officially changed its name July 1 to Vinson, Elkins, Searls, Connally & Smith to reflect Connally's return.

Olivia Armstrong is thrilled that the museum honors her son, the Wrights, and other Ohio natives including former astronauts John Glenn, Don Eisele, and Frank Borman. But she hesitantly admits the name of the building gave her pause.

"I don't like to have something other people can't have," she explained.

Things are quieter now in Wapakoneta than they were three years ago when Neil Armstrong was on the moon. But the thrill lingers on.

"I wouldn't want to go through that anxiety and waiting again," reflects Steve Armstrong. "But I hope they keep up with the space program. I hope someday they find another planet with life on it."

Armstrong says he wishes more people would appreciate the off-shoots of the Apollo research—like sensory devices to monitor vital life systems that are now used in hospitals for heart patients.

Mrs. Armstrong thinks the spirit of curiosity that "made this country great" should continue and that space research is a vital part of keeping the nation alert and growing.

Armstrong's parents humorously admit that if they'd known their son was going to turn into such a hero, they would have saved his model planes.

Neil "was always a little shy," Mrs. Armstrong recalls, "and success hasn't changed him." He, his wife and two sons are living in Lebanon, Ohio now, because they wanted a place like Wapakoneta, population 7,200, Mrs. Armstrong explained.

Olivia and Steve Armstrong still remember how Neil used discarded shoes to explain the Apollo-11 workings to a barefooted late-night family gathering: how neighbors and local stores brought food and companionship during those tense eight days. And every July 20, they especially remember two things:

For Neil's father, it's "That feeling of accomplishment and pride. Both when they landed on the moon, and when they took off again."

For Neil's mother: "I remember that for one time the whole world was united, because I could feel the power of the many prayers people offered. For just one moment the earth stood still."

Neil Armstrong's giant step for mankind is just about three years old. But Steve and Olivia Armstrong's eyes still sparkle when they think about it.

Pass, Prater Lose Wages While Jailed

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A Miners For Democracy leader has been told by a U.S. Labor Department spokesman that Albert Pass and William Prater will be taken off the payroll of the United Mine Workers Union.

Ronald T. Weakley, a department official, told attorneys for Arnold Miller Tuesday that no payments to the two would be allowed "during the period that the Labor Department is assigned the responsibility of supervising the financial affairs of the UMW."

Miller is the candidate of the dissident MFD faction for the presidency of the UMW in a federally ordered election set for December.

Pass and Prater were indicted by a Washington County, Pa., grand jury Monday on murder charges in connection with the December 1969 slayings of union insurgent Joseph Yablonski and his wife and daughter.

Miller had complained to Labor Department officials that the two men were drawing union salaries during the time they were in jail.

Pass is secretary-treasurer of UMW District 19 in Kentucky and Tennessee and a member of the union's international board. He has been in jail since May 2.

Prater, a field representative in District 19, has been jailed since April 12.

8 Cans Of Garbage Show Cincy Manager Big Problem

CINCINNATI (AP)—Several young persons, seeking twice weekly trash collections in the West End section, have delivered eight cans of garbage to the outside of the city manager's office.

The filled cans were carried Tuesday from the predominantly-Negro West End to Cincinnati City Hall a few blocks away. Then they were lined neatly against the wall of E. Robert Turner's office.

The cans were removed and emptied after a spokesman for Solving Black problems Now, and others met with an assistant to Turner and then Turner himself.

Turner said that money for twice weekly collections in all areas of the city is not available, but a feasibility study is being made on the use of Model City money to pay for an increase in refuse pickups in the West End.

While the group of blacks carried the cans to City Hall as the temperature hovered in the low 90s, Cincinnati Mayor Thomas Luken took a walking tour of the West End.

Luken's walk was mostly uneventful, although he and members of his group shocked a woman who answered her door and was wearing less than what most thought was a usual complement of clothing.

"We're not trying to snoop," Luken told the woman after she put on more clothes. "We just want to see your apartment."

The apartment was located in a newly-rehabilitated building in the West End, where the population has dwindled to about 18,000. Once, about 60,000 people lived there.

Piqua Plant Sale To Bring State $129,000 Payoff

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Ohio Board of Deposits is expected to give its approval Thursday to the sale of a Piqua plant that would net the state $129,000 on an overdue debt.

The IHC Corp., an Akron-based conglomerate, wants approval from the three-member board before it sells its modular home plant—valued at $500,000—for $310,000.

The firm was one of those the state loaned money to in 1969-70, touching off the so-called state loan scandal when it was discovered the loans went above the $50 million limit in allowed by law.

IHC, which obtained a $2 million loan from former Treasurer John D. Herbert's office, repaid $350,000 plus interest on the money last year.

Ralph Felver, general counsel for the revamped IHC firm, said in a letter read to the board Tuesday that another creditor, W. H. Crawford, was threatening bankruptcy proceedings if the sale wasn't approved.

Under terms of the sale, $181,000 would go to Crawford, the rest to the state. The firm now owes the state $1,650,000.

A decision was withheld by the board until Atty. Gen. William J. Brown, board member, was given a chance to look over the proposal.

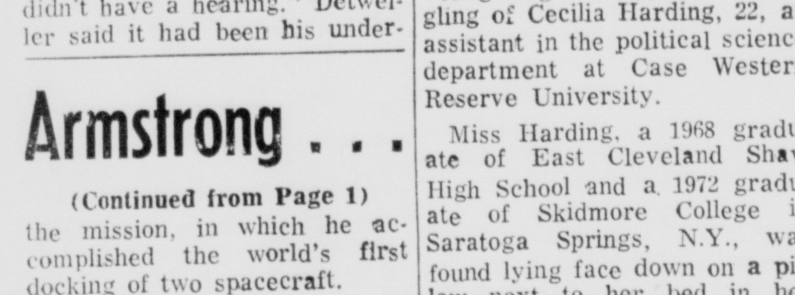

Treasurer Gertrude Donahay, another board member, indicated it would be approved. She said IHC has been trying to pay back money owed.

"We're trying to help them all we can because it is an Ohio firm," she said. Its main revenue-producing plant, Portage Machine Co., hires 300 persons in the Akron area, she said.
